NAZI PRISONERS ARE CAPTURED IN YORK COUNTY

The two German prisoners of war who escaped eight days ago from the prison camp at the southern edge of Gettysburg were captured this morning about 10:30 o'clock at a farmhouse five miles southwest of York by troops from the York state police substation, summoned by a farmer who had been asked for food by the fugitives.

The prisoners, apparently in good health and excellent spirits, were taken into custody by the officers without any show of resistance or any effort to escape when the police appeared.

One of the prisoners wore the shirt of his German Army uniform when captured. Neither wore the olive drab overalls described as they garb in first reports of the escape. They were wearing brown and olive drab trousers and shirts which they said they had since leaving Gettysburg.

Turned Over To Army

The prisoners were taken to the York state police substation where they were met by a special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation who had been working out of York on the escape. The Gettysburg camp was notified by telephone and police at York said they understood guards were being sent from here to York to take the men into custody. The FBI told The Gettysburg Times this noon that the men were turned over to military officials.

The capture was made in Spring Garden township four and a half to five miles west of York and south of the Lincoln highway. The farmhouse is located near Indian Rock dam.

Sgt. Lloyd B. Gibbs, a former resident of York Springs and graduate of Gettysburg high school, now stationed with the state police at York, told The Gettysburg Times this morning that the prisoners were detained by a farmer who had been tipped off by police Monday evening that the fugitives were in the vicinity. The officers found the prisoners in the back yard of the farm house. The capture was made without any difficulty.

Elmer Schriver, agricultural education instructor at the local high school and a member of the Lions, was named as vice chairman with Fred G. Troxell, also a Lion and a teacher at the high school, elected secretary-auditor for the committee.

Scoutmaster Jack Cessna outlined the program for the scout committee to follow during the coming year, detailing the various duties that are to be performed by the members of the committee. Retiring Chairman Vernon B. Corle was given a vote of thanks for his services during last year.

DAVID L. JACOBS DIES SUDDENLY

David L. Jacobs, 78, a retired farmer, died very suddenly this morning at 5:30 o'clock at his home on Penn street in Biglerville from a heart attack. He had been in ill health for a year.

The deceased was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Obadiah Jacobs and was born in York county. His wife, the former Mary Fleck, died in 1938. Mr. Jacobs was a member of the Arendtsville Reformed church. The only survivors are nieces and nephews.

Gilbert, 22- year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gilbert, Biglerville, who as a pilot of a P-38 Lightning fighter plane operating from an airbase in England, has won the Air Medal and three oak leaf clusters. In service since No- vember 11, 1942, he is a graduate of Gettysburg high school in the class of 1940.

HOT WEATHER GOES ON WITH ADDED DAMAGE

Today was the 21st day in Adams county without rain and crops and victory gardens wilted under a boiling sun that again pushed the temperatures up into the 90-degree section.

Monday's high temperature in Gettysburg was 91 degrees and while no reading was obtainable from Arendtsville the thermometer there hit the 91 mark by 1 o'clock Monday afternoon. Today the thermometers reached the 90 mark by noon and promised to go on up for the duration of the afternoon.

Victory gardeners reported the hot dry weather as destroying some of their crop already and farmers, after harvesting what appeared for the most part to be an excellent wheat crop the past several weeks, were beginning to worry about the effects of the drought on other crops.

Hot Night Monday

There seemed to be little damage done to fruit so far, but if the drought continues some damage could be expected. It was felt today. Most sections of the county were in the same parched condition although there has been a bit (Please Turn to Page 2)

PEACH PRICE IS CONFUSING

There was some confusion among local peach growers as to the interpretation of the new ceiling price on peaches.

They pointed out under the OPA retail price a bushel of peaches would bring between $7 and $8 whereas growers in this area were restricted to $3.66 per bushel for the entire season.

Washington, July 11 (AP)—Retail markups to establish consumer prices of fresh peaches for table use will become effective July 20, the Office of Price Administration has announced, and should result in retail prices approximately 25 per cent lower than those charged for the 1943 crop.

Highest average retail prices should be from 14 1/2 to 16 cents per pound, OPA said. Price ceilings at levels other than retail become effective July 15.

Growers' prices are calculated at an average maximum of $2.16 per bushel for the entire season, except in ten states which are granted an average $2.50 per bushel in the period prior to August 15.

For peaches produced in eastern states, the FOB price is $3.66 per bushel for the entire season. The maximum overall wholesale markup is two and three-tenths cents per pound, OPA said.

Retail markups, to be announced July 14, will be four cents per pound in stores of group one and two, OPA said, and three and one-half cents per pound in stores of groups three and four.

TELLS HOW WAR PRISONERS ARE TREATED HERE

Some of the German prisoners at the Gettysburg prisoner of war camp have been out of active duty less than one month and some have served as Nazi guards over Allied prisoners on the European continent, Capt. Laurence Thomas, camp commandant, stated in a talk Monday evening before the weekly dinner meeting of the Gettysburg Lions club.

Ruling out of the discussion some restricted topics, Captain Thomas described regulations under which the German prisoners are handled here and at other similar prison camps in this country and abroad.

The prisoners have thorough knowledge of the provisions of the Geneva conference, the officer said, and are quick to seek flaws in the manner in which its provisions are followed. He explained that the international agreement requires that a war prisoner be treated, fed and cared for in the same manner as are men of the same rank in the holding army.

"They cannot be subjected to the curious and cannot be interviewed. They can gain an interview with the camp commanding officer by going through prescribed channels.

Serve Labor Needs

"The prisoners are not hard to handle," the captain asserted and indicated that the incident at the local camp last week was "quickly strengthened out without difficulty." He said the chief cause "was ill-advised leadership from non-commissioned officers."

The captain's only reference to the two escaped prisoners was to note with a smile that the Gettysburg camp has now dropped to third place in the nation in number of escaped prisoners with one camp losing five and another, three. The escape here was described as "an unfortunate incident."

Captain Thomas, who was a school superintendent before re-entering military service, explained that the prison camp was placed here at the request of the War Manpower Commission and the Adams county canners. "The prisoner labor is not competitive and is not intended to be used where free labor is available. If no need for labor should exist here, the camp could disappear overnight."

Directed by WMC

The WMC, he said, allocates the labor from the camp. Certificates of need must be provided through the WMC. "The Army has nothing to do with the assignment of the prisoners to factories," he added. (Please Turn to Page 3)

Three carrier boys of the Portersville Evening Republican, guests of the publisher, J. H. Zerby, Jr., and the circulation manager, T. A. Davis, on a motor trip spent an hour in Gettysburg Monday afternoon.

They were taken on a tour of the battlefield with Leander Martin as guide and heard a brief lecture at the cyclorama by Dr. J. Walter Coleman, park superintendent. The party then left for Frederick where they spent the night.

The carriers, who led their group in war stamp and bond sales, are Richard Clouser, James Hochgerten and Kenneth Roberts.

While in Gettysburg they were guests of The Gettysburg Times.

Observes 80th Birthday By Working 8-Hours For U. S.

(Special To The Times)
McClellan Field, Calif., July 11—Samuel H. Bender, native of Bendersville and grandson of its founder, had two reasons for celebrating July 4th and his 80th birthday.

So he celebrated it in the sanest way possible—by putting in full eight hours at his war job at Sacramento Air Service Command in northern California, for his 11 grandsons in the service.

Bender, possibly the oldest worker at this Air Forces supply and aircraft maintenance plant, has been a janitor here for two years. During that time, while taking his turn on day, swing and graveyard shifts with the youngest of them, he has never been absent without leave. July 4th was no exception.

John C. Bream Is New Bank President

John C. Bream, Carlisle, former Biglerville hotel operator and operator of a farm near Heidlersburg, was elected president of the Biglerville National bank this morning to fill the vacancy caused by the recent death of E. Dale Heiges, Biglerville, who was president of the Biglerville bank for ten years prior to his death.

Mr. Bream had held the position of vice president of the bank during that 10-year period and had continued active in the bank's affairs since retiring from farming and moving to Carlisle where he now resides and is employed in a war plant.

J. D. Miller, cashier of the Biglerville bank, was named as vice president to fill the vacancy caused by moving Mr. Bream to the presidency. No other director was immediately named to fill out the board of directors. Directors attending the meeting this morning in addition to Mr. Bream and Mr. Miller included Frederic E. Griest, Earl Trostle, H. Earl Pitzer and Charles Rouzer.

ROTARIANS HEAR DR. WOLFF TELL ABOUT HOSPITAL

The old and the new at the Warner hospital, its benefactors and some of the developments in medicine and surgery that have come about since its establishment were the topic of a talk given Monday evening by Dr. Bruce N. Wolff, chief surgeon at the hospital, to the local Rotary club at its meeting in the YWCA.

Steady growth has characterized the local hospital, Doctor Wolff asserted, with the number of patients growing from 435 during 1921, the first year the hospital was open, to 1,762 in 1943. The number of inpatient cases has grown from 182 ten years ago to 413 in 1943. So far 22,845 cases have been treated since the opening of the hospital March 17, 1921.

The number of patients at the hospital is expected to increase annually, the hospital surgeon pointed out, with more and more counties taking advantage of hospitalization and medical treatment insurance plans which permit many who formerly could not afford it to go to the hospital for treatment.

Was Well Founded

To meet the expected increase in patients the 73-bed capacity hospital will possibly be expanded to about 160 bed capacity in the near future, in present tentative plans are completed. While asserting that all plans for expansion are completely indefinite at present, many indications point toward possible construction of some additional room at the hospital, Doctor Wolff said.

The local hospital, one of the few in the country to operate without losing money, "was established well by its founders and has continued in that course," Doctor Wolff said in raising the members of the board of directors, both those in the past and present directors for "serving well and doing a perfect job as directors." The board, the late John D. Keith and the Ladies' Auxiliary were listed as among the chief benefactors of the hospital by the local surgeon.

Lauds Benefactors

The Ladies' Auxiliary since its establishment has given between $11,000 and $12,000 to the upkeep of the hospital, Doctor Wolff said. Dr. J. McCrea Dickson was also one of the principal benefactors of the hospital, leaving at the time of his death equipment worth $15,000 which he had purchased during his years at the hospital, and left as part of the hospital's property.

The interest of Doctor Dickson in purchasing, with his own money, equipment for the hospital did much to give the hospital the "unique position it has" of being one of the best equipped hospitals in this area. Doctor Dickson often turned back one-half of his income to the hospital, Doctor Wolff said.

The staff of the hospital, made up of the various doctors of Adams county, has always been "up and coming," Doctor Wolff added. While not experimentalists, the staff has constantly been employing new techniques and methods at the hospital and has been first in this section in many instances in using improved methods including serial spinal anesthesia, caudal anesthesia, blood plasma, penicillin and a number of other new drugs. ## SILVER STAR FOR LT. C. L. SHARRER

With the Fifth Army, Italy—Second Lt. Charles L. Sharrer, of Emmitsburg, Maryland, has been awarded the Silver Star posthumously for gallantry in action on the Fifth Army front in Italy.

Son of Charles L. Sharrer, of Emmitsburg, Lieutenant Sharrer served with a field artillery unit of the 36th "Texas" Division.

Sharrer as artillery forward observer stationed at an observation post with the infantry company, skillfully judged the occupied positions on a hill and added concentrations to the prepared defensive firing. He valiantly held his post all day and, on the following morning, put his radio into operation under a heavy artillery barrage.

In the furious enemy attack which followed, Sharrer directed accurate fire that was essential to the repulsion of the enemy.

He disdained personal security in the face of tremendous enemy fire and tirelessly transmitted his orders until fatally wounded.

Sheely Rules In Compensation Case

Judge W. C. Sheely, of the Adams county court, handed down an opinion in Dauphin county court Monday in which he held that the New Enterprise Rural Electric Cooperative, Inc., is not liable for the payment of unemployment compensation contributions to the Department of Labor and Industry, based upon the wages paid to individuals, who performed services for the corporation.

The state sought to collect $1,673.49 for the fund together with $351.44 interest for three quarters in 1939 and for the years of 1940, 1941 and 1942. The court directed that the assessment for those years be stricken off and that the cost of the proceeding be paid by the Department of Labor and Industry.

ROOSEVELT TO ACCEPT 4TH TERM "OFFER"

By HOWARD FLEGGER

Washington, July 11 (AP)—President Roosevelt declared today he will "reluctantly, but as a good soldier" accept renomination by the Democratic National convention and serve another four years in the White House if elected.

In a letter to Democratic Chairman Robert E. Hannegan, Mr. Roosevelt said he personally wanted to retire and avoid public responsibilities and the publicity that "follows every step" of the President.

"But if the people command me to continue in this office and in this war," he added, "I have as little right to withdraw as the soldier has to leave his post in the line."

Tells 69 Reporters

The President's letter was made public at a White House news conference which grew tense with expectancy when Mr. Roosevelt told 69 reporters gathered in his oval office that the doors had been locked. A reporter said that must mean something important was coming.

Another reporter raised the familiar fourth-term question and, grinning, Mr. Roosevelt disclosed that this time the big news was coming.

He then read his exchange of letters with Hannegan. Hannegan wrote the President in a letter dated July 10 that enough delegates to (Please Turn to Page 2)

A graduate of Arendtsville Vocational school and a member of the choir at the Lutheran church at Heidlersburg, the 24-year-old count entered the Army August 17, 1943, and was assigned to an infantry outfit.

He was sent overseas to North Africa in January and was there for some time before being stationed in Italy. He worked at the Gettysburg Ice and Storage plant here and at the Knouse Corporation plant at Peach Glen before entering the service.

Pulverizing U. S. Barrage Precedes Smashing Attack

By WES GALLAGHER

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, July 11 (AP)—U. S. troops and tanks pounded today to a point within two miles of St. Lo, key road hub forming the Germans' central fortress in Normandy, gaining two to three miles in a furious new offensive spreading the American attack over a 40-mile front.

Spearheads of Lt.-Gen. Omar N. Bradley's American First Army, jumping off under the screen of a pulverizing artillery barrage, reached the outskirts of Luzerne and Mesnil-Roxelin, just north of the road junction in the heart of Normandy.

The attack was coordinated from the north and northeast of St. Lo. Fall of that city of 15,000 would force a German withdrawal from the remainder of the Cherbourg peninsula, and Nazi lines were under steady, heavy pressure along a front curving 40 miles to the sea.

Heavy Guns Blast Fanatical Nazis

The attack opened after hundreds of field guns bellowed steadily for hours, wrecking German hedgehog positions and numbing the nerves of even some of the most fanatical Nazis holding the line.

British-Canadian forces to the east meanwhile cleaned out nests of resistance southwest of Caen, running into stiffening opposition. Other doughboys advanced one to two miles elsewhere on the front winding across Cherbourg peninsula, making flank penetrations threatening to force a German withdrawal southward along the peninsula's west coast.

Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, Allied ground commander in France, declared 54,000 prisoners have been taken since D-Day, and told his American-British forces: "We are firm and secure."

Germans Forced To Give Ground

"Our gains have been definite and concrete and we have held everything we have gained, despite desperate efforts of the enemy to push us back into the sea, on the west flank. Cherbourg; on the east flank, Caen; and much territory in between—and all the time a tremendous struggle with a skillful enemy whose good fighting qualities and tenacity in battle cannot but attract our admiration.

"The pace has been hot and it was clear that someone would have to give ground sooner or later.

"It was equally clear that the Allied soldiers would see the thing through to the end and would never give up, and so the Germans have been forced to give ground, which was very right and proper * * *

Red Front

(By The Associated Press)
London, July 11—Russian troops streaming deep into Lithuania thrust within striking distance today of the east Prussian frontier, and moved swiftly toward the Baltic coast in wide enveloping advances which threatened to trap two German armies in the north.

Southward in old Poland, other Army groups beat toward the rail center of Bialystok and directly menaced Pinsk. The Germans reported a massive new Soviet offensive in Romania north of the rail center of Iasi—a drive threatening the Galati gap and the Ploesti oil fields, already extensively ruined by American bombs.

The Moscow communique said the Germans suffered "tremendous losses" in a general Russian forward surge all the way from the Latvian border to the middle of the Pripyat marshes, some 460 miles southward.

A powerful wedge was driven into Lithuania at about the midway point of the 160-mile battlefield between Daugavpils, in southeastern Latvia, and the by-passed and deemed German stronghold of Wilno—scene now of bloody street fighting.

Advancing not less than 28 miles yesterday, Col. Gen. Ivan C. Bagramian's Baltic troops cut the highway between Daugavpils and the Lithuanian city of Kaunas in a drive within 120 miles of the Baltic port of Riga, capital of Latvia.

ROTARIANS HEAR DR. WOLFF TELL ABOUT HOSPITAL

The old and the new at the Warner hospital, its benefactors and some of the developments in medicine and surgery that have come about since its establishment were the topic of a talk given Monday evening by Dr. Bruce N. Wolff, chief surgeon at the hospital, to the local Rotary club at its meeting in the YWCA.

Steady growth has characterized the local hospital, Doctor Wolff asserted, with the number of patients growing from 436 during 1921, the first year the hospital was open, to 1,768 in 1943. The number of maternity cases has grown from 182 ten years ago to 413 in 1943. So far 22,640 cases have been treated since the opening of the hospital March 17, 1921.

The number of patients at the hospital is expected to increase annually, the hospital surgeon pointed out, with more and more counties taking advantage of hospitalization and medical treatment insurance plans which permit many who formerly could not afford it to go to the hospital for treatment.

Was Well Founded

To meet the expected increase in patients the 73-bed capacity hospital will possibly be expanded to about 100 bed capacity in the near future if present tentative plans are completed. While asserting that all plans for expansion are completely indefinite at present many indications point toward possible construction of some additional room at the hospital, Doctor Wolff said.

The local hospital, one of the few in the country to operate without losing money, "was established well by its founders and has continued in that course," Doctor Wolff said in praising the members of the board of directors, both those in the past and present directors for "serving well and doing a perfect job as directors." The board, the late John D. Keith and the Ladies' Auxiliary were listed as among the chief benefactors of the hospital by the local surgeon.

Lauds Benefactors

The Ladies' Auxiliary since its establishment has given between $11,000 and $12,000 to the upkeep of the hospital, Doctor Wolff said. Dr. J. McCrea Dickson was also one of the principal benefactors of the hospital, leaving at the time of his death equipment worth $15,000 which he had purchased during his years at the hospital, and left as part of the hospital's property.

The interest of Doctor Dickson in purchasing, with his own money, equipment for the hospital did much to give the hospital the "unique position it has" of being one of the best equipped hospitals in this area. Doctor Dickson often turned back one-half of his income to the hospital, Doctor Wolff said.

The staff of the hospital, made up of the various doctors of Adams county, has always been "up and coming," Doctor Wolff added. While not experimentalists, the staff has constantly been employing new techniques and methods at the hospital and has been first in this section in many instances in using improved methods including serial spinal anesthesia, caudal anesthesia, blood plasma, penicillin and a number of other new drugs. ## SILVER STAR FOR LT. C. L. SHARRER

With the Fifth Army, Italy—Second Lt. Charles L. Sharrer, of Emmitsburg, Maryland, has been awarded the Silver Star posthumously for gallantry in action on the Fifth Army front in Italy.

Son of Charles L. Sharrer, of Emmitsburg, Lieutenant Sharrer served with a field artillery unit of the 36th "Texas" Division.

Sharrer as artillery forward observer stationed at an observation post with the infantry company, skillfully judged the occupied positions on a hill and added concentrations to the prepared defensive firing. He valiantly held his post all day and, on the following morning put his radio into operation under a heavy artillery barrage.

In the furious enemy attack which followed, Sharrer directed accurate fire that was essential to the repulsion of the enemy.

He disdained personal security in the face of tremendous enemy fire and tirelessly transmitted his orders until fatally wounded.

Sheely Rules In Compensation Case

Judge W. C. Sheely, of the Adams county court, handed down an opinion in Dauphin county court Monday in which he held that the New Enterprise Rural Electric Cooperative, Inc., is not liable for the payment of unemployment compensation contributions to the Department of Labor and Industry, based upon the wages paid to individuals, who performed services for the corporation.

The state sought to collect $1,673.49 for the fund together with $351.44 interest for three quarters in 1939 and for the years of 1940, 1941 and 1942. The court directed that the assessment for those years be stricken off and that the cost of the proceeding be paid by the Department of Labor and Industry.

ROOSEVELT TO ACCEPT 4TH TERM "OFFER"

By HOWARD FLIEGER

Washington, July 11 (AP)—President Roosevelt declared today he will "reluctantly, but as a good soldier" accept renomination by the Democratic National convention and serve another four years in the White House if elected.

In a letter to Democratic Chairman Robert E. Hannegan, Mr. Roosevelt said he personally wanted to retire and avoid public responsibilities and the publicity that "follows every step" of the President.

"But if the people command me to continue in this office and in this war," he added, "I have as little right to withdraw as the soldier has to leave his post in the line."

Tells 99 Reporters

The President's letter was made public at a White House news conference which grew tense with expectancy when Mr. Roosevelt told 99 reporters gathered in his oval office that the doors had been locked. A reporter said that must mean something important was coming.

Another reporter raised the familiar fourth-term question and, grinning, Mr. Roosevelt disclosed that this time the big news was coming.

He then read his exchange of letters with Hannegan. Hannegan wrote the President in a letter dated July 10 that enough delegates to (Please Turn to Page 2) say what was the nature of his injuries, or that he was wounded in battle. His injuries, he told his parents in the letter, are slight.

A graduate of Arendtsville Vocational school and a member of the choir at the Lutheran church at Heidlersburg, the 24-year-old countian entered the Army August 17, 1943, and was assigned to an infantry outfit.

He was sent overseas to North Africa in January and was there for some time before being stationed in Italy. He worked at the Gettysburg Ice and Storage plant here and at the Knouse Corporation plant at Peach Glen before entering the service.

Pulverizing U. S. Barrage Precedes Smashing Attack

By WES GALLAGHER

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, July 11 (AP)—U. S. troops and tanks pounded today to a point within two miles of St. Lo, key road hub forming the Germans' central fortress in Normandy, gaining two to three miles in a furious new offensive spreading the American attack over a 40-mile front.

Spearheads of Lt.-Gen. Omar N. Bradley's American First Army, jumping off under the screen of a pulverizing artillery barrage, reached the outskirts of Luzerne and Mesnil-Roxelin, just north of the road junction in the heart of Normandy.

The attack was coordinated from the north and northeast of St. Lo. Fall of that city of 15,000 would force a German withdrawal from the remainder of the Cherbourg peninsula, and Nazi lines were under steady, heavy pressure along a front curving 40 miles to the sea.

Heavy Guns Blast Fanatical Nazis

The attack opened after hundreds of field guns bellowed steadily for hours, wrecking German hedgehog positions and numbing the nerves of even some of the most fanatical Nazis holding the line.

British-Canadian forces to the east meanwhile cleaned out nests of resistance southwest of Caen; running into stiffening opposition.

Other doughboys advanced one to two miles elsewhere on the front winding across Cherbourg peninsula, making flank penetrations threatening to force a German withdrawal southward along the peninsula's west coast.

Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, Allied ground commander in France, declared 54,000 prisoners have been taken since D-Day, and told his American-British forces:

"We are firm and secure."

Germans Forced To Give Ground

"Our gains have been definite and concrete and we have held everything we have gained, despite desperate efforts of the enemy to push us back into the sea, on the west flank, Cherbourg; on the east flank, Caen; and much territory in between—and all the time a tremendous struggle with a skillful enemy whose good fighting qualities and tenacity in battle cannot but attract our admiration.

"The pace has been hot and it was clear that someone would have to give ground sooner or later.

"It was equally clear that the Allied soldiers would see the thing through to the end and would never give up, and so the Germans have been forced to give ground, which was very right and proper * * *

Red Front

(By The Associated Press)

London, July 11—Russian troops streaming deep into Lithuania thrust within striking distance today of the east Prussian frontier and moved swiftly toward the Baltic coast in wide enveloping advances which threatened to trap two German armies in the north.

Southward in old Poland, other Army groups beat toward the rail center of Bialystok and directly menaced Pinsk. The Germans reported a massive new Soviet offensive in Romania north of the rail center of Iasi—a drive threatening the Galati gap and the Ploesti oil fields, already extensively ruined by American bombs.

The Moscow communique said the Germans suffered "tremendous losses" in a general Russian forward surge all the way from the Latvian border to the middle of the Pripyat marshes, some 400 miles southward.

A powerful wedge was driven into Lithuania at about the midway point of the 100-mile battlefront between Daugavpils, in southeastern Latvia, and the by-passed and doomed German stronghold of Wilno—scene now of bloody street fighting.

Advancing not less than 28 miles yesterday, Col. Gen. Ivan C. Bagration's Baltic troops cut the highway between Daugavpils and the Lithuanian city of Kaunas in a drive within 120 miles of the Baltic port of Riga, capital of Latvia.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Homer B. Buohli, 132 East Water street, on Sunday observed their 45th wedding anniversary. They were married July 9, 1899, in Hanover.

GETS PROMOTION

Mrs. Ray Miller has received word from her husband, Pfc. Ray Miller, who is stationed somewhere in England, that he has been promoted to T-5.

Bad weather and strengthening German resistance slowed the British Second Army assault in the Caen sector, and heavy fighting flamed south of the Odon and Orne rivers. The Germans forced the British to withdraw to the north of Maltot, a town four miles southwest of Caen.

Hopeless Nazi Position

A costly price still was being exacted of the enemy, and a British headquarters officer estimated 30 to 35 Nazi tanks had been knocked out on the front southwest of Caen.

The German position west of the Orne river appeared hopeless in the long run, but the fanatical Nazi opposition against the drive of both the British and the Canadians was forcing the fighting line back temporarily in some spots and limiting progress to a few hundred yards in others.

Part of the loss of power of Montgomery's punch was caused by bad weather, which made it impossible for the Allied air force to put in strong, close support.

Canadian troops cleared all the Germans from the north bank of the Odon river down to its junction with the Orne. The British clung fiercely to Hill 112, just north of Esquay, which controls land observation between the two rivers.

Make Good Progress

The first signs that Field Marshal Gen. Erwin Rommel was being forced into a general withdrawal in the Cherbourg peninsula came when Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's columns pushing south from Carentan and down the west bank of the Vire river threatened German flank positions.

South of Carentan the Americans drove within four miles of Periers, key road junction leading to the La Haye du Puits front. The doughboys drove about a mile south of Sainteny, making good progress on the west side of the road, where they captured La Forges, just south of Sainteny.

In expanding this sector the Americans also captured Graignes, four and one-half miles south southwest of Carentan.

SEES GREAT NEW OFFENSIVES IN PACIFIC SECTOR

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (Associated Press War Analyst)

The new and heavy attacks on the islands of Guam and Rota by American warships and bombers are a natural accompaniment of our capture of the neighboring island of Saipan—the strategic air and naval base which has been one of the enemy's main shields not only for Japan proper but for the Philippines.

The war is moving very fast in the Pacific. The fresh assaults on Guam and Rota certainly presage neutralization of these bases and it's not unlikely that we shall occupy them. I believe we may expect similar operations in the immediate future against other major Japanese bases in this inner defense area—Truk, Yap, Palau and Bonin, all of which are now within reach of our big bombers.

But after we have neutralized and perhaps occupied these islands, where do we go? It would indeed be interesting to know what ideas are being nursed by those two energetic and resourceful old campaigners, General MacArthur and Admiral Nimitz, now that we have possession of Saipan. Certainly what this pair has in mind could bring no joy to a harassed Japanese government which twelve days ago, during the height of the bloody struggle for Saipan, broadcast to its public:

Strategic Air Base

"We, the 100,000,000 people of Japan, must realize now, if ever, that the outcome of the battle of the Marianas (the group of which Saipan is the main island) will exert a very serious influence upon the future war situation."

Well, what "very serious influence" is likely to emanate from this volcanic island which American forces have won at heavy cost to their own ranks, and with the annihilation of an estimated 19,000 of the fanatical Japanese garrison of 20,000 which elected to fight to the death? There are several possibilities for Saipan is at the crossroads of the Japanese empire and will provide Uncle Sam's super-bombers with a land base less than 1,500 miles from Tokyo and about the same distance from the Philippines.

This means that when we have completed neutralization of the few islands in this Japanese defensive area we shall have cleared a pathway which will permit of direct assaults against the Dutch East Indies, the Philippines and perhaps against Japan itself. So it won't be long before we are at close grips with the Mikado's main forces.

Great Aerial Factor

All this is fully recognized by the Japanese government which is being blunt in warning the public of the seriousness of the situation. Tokyo's immediate worry is the certainty that the mother country is going to be heavily bombed. This means disaster, for Japan's overcrowded cities are almost built and the destruction will be great. Evacuation of children from Nippon's six principal cities already is under way.

As the signs read, aerial bombardment of Japan is going to be a major factor in forcing her capitulation.

When it comes to the major invasions one would expect the Philippines to be close to the top of the list. Establishment of a strong base in these islands which MacArthur has sworn to redeem, would provide the Allies with a mighty wedge with which to split the enemy defenses wide open. Its first effect would be to sever Japan from her all essential supplies in the East Indies. The capture of her oil-gates, the invasion of the country and the direct assault of Japan proper would follow naturally.

NEW FEVER CASE

County Health Officer William I. Shields Monday afternoon quarantined the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Markle, Conewago township, Hanover R. 4, for scarlet fever. A three-year-old daughter, Barbara, is ill with the disease.

HE WAS ONLY AN OLD MAN, SEEKING JOB

The hunt for the escaped prisoners of war reached a new high Sunday evening, about 7 o'clock when some 30 residents of the Ida-villa-Rock Chapel area, on foot and in cars, gave chase to and surrounded a man they believed to be one of the escaped prisoners.

Someone saw the "suspicious character" walking on the Rock Chapel road en route to the Gettysburg-Harrisburg road. Ideas of escaped prisoners rapidly circulated and the crowd grew rapidly. Some followed, some preceded the man in question. Some went by car, some walked. The object of the posse continued on his way unconcerned.

It was seen that his shoes were worn out, his clothes old and dirty. When a question was asked him by one member who was bold enough to come close enough to ask a question the man answered in what appeared to be a foreign tongue.

Just an Old Man

The crowd kept stalking the man, the man kept on his way apparently unconcerned and Pvt. George Ackerson of the local state police answered the call to the local sub-station stating that an escaped prisoner was surrounded and would the police come and pick him up please?

Ackerson arrived and discovered some slight differences between the man followed by the crowd and the escaped prisoners. For one thing the prisoners are both young men. The man near Rock Chapel was 57 years old. And he did speak English even though his speech was somewhat broken.

Private Ackerson took the man into custody and the crowd dispersed. At Gettysburg Ackerson gave the "prisoner," Walter Spzak of Bedford county, a new pair of shoes and wished him well as Spzak continued his journey—to York to seek a job.

MAJOR PARTIES ADVANCE PLANS

(By The Associated Press)

Democrats talked platform and vice presidential problems today while Republicans looked forward to a pooling of the election-winning abilities of their 26 governors for the benefit of Thomas E. Dewey's race for the presidency.

Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, majority leader in the House and chairman of the Democratic convention platform committee, expressed confidence that one plank will call for "sound and international action to prevent war and to assure permanent peace."

The convention starts a week from tomorrow in Chicago but a two-hour visit between President Roosevelt and Vice President Wallace at the White House yesterday produced no new information on how Wallace stands for renomination.

Whether Mr. Roosevelt, the expected nominee for a fourth term, requests Wallace's selection will be of great consequence, but Wallace was emphatic in saying the only subject they discussed was China, whence he has just returned.

At Montgomery, Alabama, Gov. Chauncey Sparks declared that "southerners who want to supplant Wallace are unwise in not uniting behind one candidate alone. He said he thought Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky would be a good bet politically."

DEGAULLE GETS "DE FACTO" OKAY

Washington, July 11 (AP)—President Roosevelt announced today that he is accepting the French National committee headed by General Charles De Gaulle as the authority for civil administration of liberated France.

Mr. Roosevelt's new attitude toward the committee, the Chief Executive made clear in his news conference, results from the talks which he had last Thursday, Friday and Saturday with De Gaulle.

There is no change, the President said, in the policy of this government in not recognizing the French committee as a provisional government.

In its capacity of "de facto authority," the committee will be under the general supervision of General Dwight D. Eisenhower, Allied supreme commander. Eisenhower will have the decision on when a city or town or department can be released from military administration and turned over to the committee.

The President used the term "de facto authority" in describing the committee's role pending the time that the French people have an opportunity to choose a government for themselves.

SEES GREAT NEW OFFENSIVES IN PACIFIC SECTOR

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

The new and heavy attacks on the islands of Guam and Rota by American warships and bombers are a natural accompaniment of our capture of the neighboring island of Saipan—the strategic air and naval base which has been one of the enemy's main shields not only for Japan proper but for the Philippines.

The war is moving very fast in the Pacific. The fresh assaults on Guam and Rota certainly presage neutralization of these bases and it's not unlikely that we shall occupy them. I believe we may expect similar operations in the immediate future against other major Japanese bases in this inner defense arc—Truk, Yap, Palau and Bonin, all of which are now within reach of our big bombers.

But after we have neutralized and perhaps occupied these islands, where do we go? It would indeed be interesting to know what ideas are being nursed by those two energetic and resourceful old campaigners, General MacArthur and Admiral Nimitz, now that we have possession of Saipan. Certainly what this pair has in mind could bring no joy to a harassed Japanese government which twelve days ago, during the height of the bloody struggle for Saipan, broadcast to its public:

Strategic Air Base
"We, the 100,000,000 people of Japan, must realize now, if ever, that the outcome of the battle of the Marianas (the group of which Saipan is the main island) will exert a very serious influence upon the future war situation."

Well, what "very serious influence" is likely to emanate from this volcanic island which American forces have won at heavy cost to their own ranks, and with the annihilation of an estimated 19,000 of the fanatical Japanese garrison of 20,000 which elected to fight to the death? There are several possibilities, for Saipan is at the crossroads of the Japanese empire and will provide Uncle Sam's super-bombers with a land base less than 1,500 miles from Tokyo and about the same distance from the Philippines.

This means that when we have completed neutralization of the few islands in this Japanese defensive are we shall have cleared a pathway which will permit of direct assaults against the Dutch East Indies, the Philippines and perhaps against Japan itself. So it won't be long before we are at close grips with the Mikado's main forces.

Great Aerial Factor
All this is fully recognized by the Japanese government which is being blunt in warning the public of the seriousness of the situation. Tokyo's immediate worry is the certainty that the mother country is going to be heavily bombed. This means disaster, for Japan's overcrowded cities are flimsily built and the destruction will be great. Evacuation of children from Nippon's six principal cities already is under way.

As the signs read, aerial bombardment of Japan is going to be a major factor in forcing her capitulation.

When it comes to the major invasions one would expect the Philippines to be close to the top of the list. Establishment of a strong base in these islands, which MacArthur has sworn to redeem, would provide the Allies with a mighty wedge with which to split the enemy defenses wide open. Its first effect would be to sever Japan from her all essential supplies in the East Indies. The recapture of her ill-got gains, the invasion of the continent and the direct assault of Japan proper would follow naturally.

HE WAS ONLY AN OLD MAN, SEEKING JOB

The hunt for the escaped prisoners of war reached a new high Sunday evening, about 7 o'clock when some 30 residents of the Idavilla-Rock Chapel area, on foot and in cars, gave chase to and surrounded a man they believed to be one of the escaped prisoners.

Someone saw the "suspicious character" walking on the Rock Chapel road en route to the Gettysburg-Harrisburg road. Ideas of escaped prisoners rapidly circulated and the crowd grew rapidly. Some followed, some preceded the man in question. Some went by car, some walked. The object of the posse continued on his way unconcerned.

It was seen that his shoes were worn out, his clothes old and dirty. When a question was asked him by one member who was bold enough to come close enough to ask a question the man answered in what appeared to be a foreign tongue.

Just an Old Man

The crowd kept stalking the man, the man kept on his way apparently unconcerned and Pvt. George Ackerson of the local state police answered the call to the local sub-station stating that an escaped prisoner was surrounded and would the police come and pick him up please?

Ackerson arrived and discovered some slight differences between the man followed by the crowd and the escaped prisoners. For one thing the prisoners are both young men. The man near Rock Chapel was 57 years old. And he did speak English even though his speech was somewhat broken.

Private Ackerson took the man into custody and the crowd dispersed. At Gettysburg Ackerson gave the "prisoner," Walter Spzak of Bedford county, a new pair of shoes and wished him well as Spzak continued his journey—to York to seek a job.

MORE BIRTHS HERE IN 1944

Births in Gettysburg and the four township district surrounding it were up from 222 for the first six months of last year to 235 for the first six months of this year.

Ralph Geiselman, register of vital statistics for the area, said today.

Deaths for the same periods were about the same with 96 recorded for the first half of this year and 97 last year.

During June there were 21 male and 22 female births in Gettysburg, and none in the townships.

The record for the first six months of the year is listed by Mr. Geiselman as: Gettysburg, 115 male and 116 female births; Cumberland township, one female birth; Straban township a male and a female birth and Highland township, a male birth. No births were recorded in Freedom township.

Most of the 96 deaths during the first half of the year occurred in Gettysburg with 37 male and 30 female deaths listed here. There were two deaths, a male and female, in Freedom township, five male and six female deaths in Cumberland township, two male and two female deaths in Straban township and two male deaths in Highland township. The 13 deaths in June were divided between seven male and three female in Gettysburg and two male and a female in Cumberland township.

HOT WEATHER

the more rain in some sections than in others.

In Gettysburg the last trace of rain fell early this month and no measurable rain has fallen here since June 20.

Monday night's lowest temperature here was 71 degrees making it one of the hottest nights so far this season.

While the drought continued to be severe residents of Gettysburg are apparently assured of plenty of water for their needs for some time to come. Vernon B. Corle, manager of the water company, today said that there is "much more water flowing in Marsh creek at the present time than is being used by the town." While more users of water are in the borough this summer than last there has been less water used during the summer so far apparently because of the installation of meters during the last winter, Mr. Corle said. Previously much water was wasted.

BULLETINS

New York, July 11 (AP)—Paul E. Fitzpatrick, 47-year-old Buffalo businessman, was elected chairman of the New York State Democratic committee today, succeeding James A. Farley, who held the post for 14 years.

Accepting the post, Fitzpatrick praised Farley as one who has given the Democratic party "standing not only in this state but the entire country."

Thus "Smiling Big Jim" bowed out of the last of many official party positions he held during 35 years in politics.

Bogota, Colombia, July 11 (AP)—Numerous army garrisons and prominent Colombian military leaders declared their loyalty today to President Alfonso Lopez, who was held prisoner at Pasto, southern Colombia, by a group of rebellious army officers. Vice President Dario Echandia, who emphasized his loyalty to Lopez, proclaimed a state of emergency after announcing last night he had assumed the acting presidency.

DEGAULLE GETS "DE FACTO" OKAY

Washington, July 11 (AP)—President Roosevelt announced today that he is accepting the French National committee headed by General Charles De Gaulle as the authority for civil administration of liberated France.

Mr. Roosevelt's new attitude toward the committee, the Chief Executive made clear at his news conference, results from the talks which he had last Thursday, Friday and Saturday with De Gaulle.

There is no change, the President said, in the policy of this government in not recognizing the French committee as a provisional government.

In its capacity of "de facto authority," the committee will be under the general supervision of General Dwight D. Eisenhower, Allied supreme commander. Eisenhower will have the decision on when a city or town or department can be released from military administration and turned over to the committee.

The President used the term "de facto authority" in describing the committee's role pending the time that the French people have an opportunity to choose a government for themselves.

WILLKIE SAYS GOP IGNORED HIM

New York, July 11 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie sent a draft of a proposed platform to the recent Republican National convention but his views—which differ from those in the adopted platform—were not submitted to the delegates.

The 1940 Republican presidential nominee, who last night made public the text of the document, said his representatives in Chicago were unable to offer his proposals due to the speed with which the convention disposed of the platform.

Willkie's suggestions differed from the convention platform on foreign policy, states' rights, tariffs, taxes, labor, the racial problem and other planks.

On foreign policy, the New Yorker urged: "Immediate creation of a council of the United Nations as a first step toward the formation of a general international organization in order that all the peoples of the United Nations should have a voice in the decisions which will shape the world in which they live."

He also advocated "use of American sovereignty in cooperation with other powers to create continuing international organization for the good of all with the power to uphold its decisions by force if necessary."

GOVERNORS' CONFERENCE

Albany, N. Y., July 11 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey announced today a conference of Republican governors would take place Aug. 2 and 3 in St. Louis. Dewey, GOP presidential nominee, will attend the conference with the other 25 Republican governors, including John W. Bricker of Ohio, the vice-presidential nominee.

PROUDEST BOY

Philadelphia, July 11 (AP)—Ten-year-old Arthur Klein probably was the proudest lad in the neighborhood today. He received a letter from General Dwight D. Eisenhower commending him for his sale of more than $183,000 worth of war bonds in the last three war loan drives.

In Italy

By NOLAND NORGAARD

Rome, July 11 (AP)—Employing encircling tactics against stubbornly defended and heavily fortified German strongholds, American troops were working their way, steadily northward today in a broad enveloping movement aimed at the key Italian port of Livorno.

Allied headquarters announced that Fifth Army forces had by-passed the town of Lajatico, 21 miles southeast of Livorno in one phase of this movement and had stabbed on ahead against fierce opposition.

A similar operation resulted in the bypassing of Pomaja, about eight miles inland from the Italian West Coast and approximately midway between Lajatico and the coastal town of Catignello. Troops which drove around Pomaja on the East subsequently captured the village of Casale, one mile to the north.

The 100th battalion, composed of American troops of Japanese origin, was engaged in violent fighting on relatively flat ground three miles west of Pomaja and was reported making some progress.

The German garrison at Pomaja was thus threatened on two sides, and the Nazi force at Lajatico was in much the same position.

"KID BROTHER" LIES IN PLOT B, ROW 5, IN NEW CEMETERY

By HAL BOYLE
St. Laurent-Sur-Mer, France, July 5 (Delayed).—(AP)—I finally caught up with John Norbert Murphy after searching the war zones for more than a year.

Almost seven years ago my older brother, Ed, married John's sister, Monica, in Kansas City. John wasn't even in high school then.

When I was back home last spring Monica asked if I had ever come across her "kid brother."

"He is in the Navy and landed with a Navy beach party during the invasion of Sicily last July," she said. "He talked to some other correspondents and learned you had landed with General Patton on the same stretch of beach, but wasn't able to get in touch with you."

When I went to England in May I still couldn't find him.

Today I found him, over here

Plot B, Row 5, Grave 84
He was lying in plot B, row five, grave 84, of the first American cemetery in France in World War II.

Into the mound of earth was stuck a stake to which was wired his identifying "dogtag." And a withered, faded, and torn piece of French peasants who have put a flower over each of 2,000 American graves in the cemetery.

The cemetery overlooks the stretch of beach on which John died on D-Day. A few hundred yards away is a ruined 88-MM gun which could have fired the shell that killed him.

Walking in a heavy rain across a rutted beach I found a young radioman who told me about it.

"Murph landed an hour after H-Hour," he said. "He was carrying a tommygun. He was a radioman second class and in charge of communications for his platoon. He soon had the ship-to-shore radio working so the officers could direct the movement of troops and materials ashore."

In Hot Section

"He had to keep moving because he was on the hottest section of the beach. It was almost covered with German 88 shells, mortars and machinegun fire."

"About 7 o'clock that night Murph and his buddy, Radioman Third Class Lawrence Meredith, from Oklahoma City, and two other men were in a foxhole. An 88 shell landed right in the foxhole. Murph and Meredith were killed instantly. One of the other fellows was wounded, but the fourth man wasn't even hurt."

Company Commander Lt. George Clyburn, Conroe, Tex., recalled that John's platoon had been hardest hit on D-Day. "We were badly mauled that day," he said.

In a one time German concrete bunker, I met Signalman Second Class George Lythgoe, Logansport, Ind., and Radioman Second Class James Panto, 22, Lovellville, O. They told me more of John's last hours.

"I'll Be Ready"

Lythgoe said he was with Murph on the Sicily show. "I saw him just before he came ashore here. He wasn't worried. He never talked much except about his girl, Dolly, back in Kansas City, and his Dad."

"Things were so tough for a while on that beach that they were passing word along that my fellows in the Navy beach battalion might have to move up and backstop infantry troops," said Panto. Murph, just a Yank fighting man, wasn't scared.

"Murph fired his tommygun once to be sure it was in good working condition," said Lythgoe. "Then he said 'Well, I'll be ready.' He was laughing."

Navy Announces Loss Of Old Sub

Washington, July 11 (AP)—Loss of the 20-year-old submarine S-28 during training exercises in the Pacific was announced by the Navy today.

The sub carried a complement of about 60 men and was under command of Lt. Comdr. Jack C. Campbell, 29, whose wife, Mrs. Jean Brooks Campbell, lives in Groton, Conn.

The Navy did not disclose where the S-28 was lost.

"The depth of water makes it impossible to salvage the submarine, and hope has been abandoned for the recovery of the missing personnel," the Navy said.

FALLS INTO SHAFT

Erie, Pa., July 11 (AP)—John Edmonds, 52, superintendent of service at the Ford hotel here, was in the hospital today with a broken arm, leg and pelvis. Edmonds, hotel officials said, walked through a door thinking the elevator was there and fell 15 feet down the elevator shaft.

The prisoners cannot receive more than 80 cents per day under terms of the Geneva conference. Officers who are prisoners and non-commissioned officers cannot be required to work and are not kept in the same camp as enlisted men, he added.

Captain Thomas said that during the two-week period in June the Gettysburg camp became the first to go on a "paying basis" financially for the government with the government receiving the prisoners' pay in excess of the 80 cents per day given each man.

Scoffs Local Rumors

The camp here originally was scheduled to remain until November 1 but with the pea canning season shortened by the dry weather and with a similar prospect in sight for the bean and tomato crops changes in plans may be necessary, the speaker indicated. He said that when the food harvesting and canning season is over the prisoners may be transferred to pulpwood cutting work.

Captain Thomas referred to the "many types of unfounded rumors which have been current in this community about the camp" and spoke specially of one frequently heard comment. "People say the prisoners are too well treated but we are bound to treat them with the same care and consideration given our own men because we are bound by the Geneva regulations. We know our men are not receiving the same treatment in enemy prison camps. Even if the Geneva rules were to be followed, they would not get the same treatment we deal out here because the standards of the Axis armies are so much lower than ours."

Captain Thomas was presented to the clubmen by Burgess Fred G. Pfeiffer.

New Committees

New club officers took over their duties Monday evening with President J. Milton Bender presiding for the first time. He presented a past president's pin to Hugh C. McIlhenny, immediate past president.

S/2o Carl A. Westerdahl, member of the club serving in the Navy at Camp Peary, Va., spoke briefly and plans were announced for a joint meeting next Monday evening with the Upper Adams and York Springs clubs at the York Springs hotel at 7 o'clock.

Committee assignments for the club for the coming year were read by Secretary Robert Smith at the direction of the new president as

CHINCH BUGS DESTROY CORN SAYS HARTMAN

"Many Adams county farmers are finding their corn fields heavily infested with millions of small insects that are causing severe damage and in many instances have already caused the corn plants to die. Insect damage is usually first noticed where corn fields adjoin wheat and barley fields," said M. T. Hartman, county agent.

"These small insects are known as chinch bugs and the adult bug is about one-fifth of an inch long with a black body. Its white wings lie folded over each other on the abdomen and are marked by a small black triangle on their outer margins, while the bases of the antennae and the legs are red. The young bugs are yellowish or bright red marked with brownish black, becoming darker as they grow older. Chinch bugs pass the winter in the adult stage and hide in trash, fence rows and in large bunches of grass. They feed only on cereal crop plants, grains, grasses and corn."

Seek Grain Fields

"In early summer the bugs migrate to grain fields where they lay their eggs and hatch out in immature stages of chinch bugs and feed on grain crops but do not do serious damage."

"When grain ripens or at harvest time, there is little sap left in the plant for the bugs to feed on so they start for the corn field. They will continue to feed on corn for several weeks or until the corn gets tough enough until it is not attractive. By this time the bugs become adults again and seek protected places for overwintering."

"About eight years ago we had a severe outbreak of chinch bugs in Adams county at which time many acres of corn were completely destroyed."

"Dry, hot weather is especially favorable for chinch bugs. Frequent rains would retard the progress of chinch bugs and would give our corn fields a much needed spurt," he said.

How to Curb Bugs

County agent Hartman declares that the most practical way to keep the chinch bugs from migrating into corn fields is by plowing a furrow 8 to 10 inches deep with the straight edge of the furrow on the side of the field, which is free of chinch bugs, the ground being turned toward the infested area. The dragging of a log through the furrow to create a dust mulch will prevent the bugs from crossing over. Although chinch bugs have wings in the adult stage, they travel on foot.

It will be helpful if the log is dragged through the furrow in the morning and afternoon as thousands of chinch bugs can be killed in this way.

Due to scarcity of chemicals and insecticides, it is not practical to use any of these materials under present conditions.

TOKYO REPORTS FLEET ACTION

New York, July 11 (AP)—The Japanese radio said today that "a very powerful enemy fleet consisting of two aircraft carriers and more than 30 cruisers and destroyers are playing the waters northwest of Tinian island" in the Marianas.

The radio report, a Domei agency advisory recorded by U. S. government monitors, said 90 planes attacked the stolen American island of Guam in the Marianas on July 10 and that cruisers and destroyers shelled Japanese positions on Guam while other aircraft were bombing Tinian and Rota. All are in the same island group as captured Saipan, 1,465 miles from Tokyo.

Domei said "several large planes and more than 50 small planes" were observed using Asbito airfield on the southern end of Saipan island, first captured strip in the Marianas, which has been in operation a week or more.

The Berlin radio said the United States "possesses considerable supremacy in aircraft carriers" in the Marianas.

Scrap Collections For June Reported

Dr. Eugene Elgin, East Berlin, chairman of the Adams county Salvage committee, today reported salvage and waste collections for the month of June as follows:

47,000 pounds of rags.
6,050 pounds of household fats.
6 tons of tin cans, ready to be shipped.
7 tons of prepared tin cans shipped to detinning plants.
6 tons of tin cans collected.
145 tons of waste paper.
240 pounds of copper, bronze and brass.
96 tons of iron and steel scrap.

These figures do not include the salvage and waste materials sold to junk dealers in York, Hanover, Chambersburg, Waynesboro and Carlisle by county agents.

FARLEY IS OUT AS CHAIRMAN

New York, July 11 (AP)—James A. Farley "Smiling Big Jim" bows out today as Democratic state chairman, his last of many official party positions during 35 years in politics.

The 56-year-old Farley, who opposed a third term for President Roosevelt after directing the campaigns that won his first eight years in the White House, kept to himself his future role in American politics.

Paul E. Fitzpatrick, 47, Buffalo businessman whom National Committee Edward J. Flynn termed "100 per cent for Roosevelt," was slated to succeed Farley in the post he held for 14 years. Fitzpatrick will be recommended by leaders to a special meeting of the state committee today.

Farley, who in 1940 stepped down as postmaster general and as national chairman, said at a testimonial dinner for him last night, that he would "always be interested in the success of my party" but gave no hint of his probable course at the Democratic national convention next week.

Farley, a delegate-at-large, has not disclosed whether he will actively oppose a fourth term for the President as he did in 1940 when he was a candidate himself.

F. B. I. CONFAB

Pittsburgh, July 11 (AP)—A series of law enforcement conferences will be held in eight western Pennsylvania cities beginning next Monday. Harry T. O'Connor, head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation office here, announced.

SEWAGE PROBLEM

Pittsburgh, July 11 (AP)—Construction of the proposed Beaver-Mahoning canal would cost residents of communities bordering it between $8,000,000 and $10,000,000 to install sewage treatment plants, the Upper Ohio Valley association predicts.

When Buffaloes Stopped the Iron Horse ...TRAVELERS WERE PATIENT

Remembering the hardships of the stagecoach and covered wagon days, travelers once looked upon the new woodburner trains as solid luxury... despite choking smoke, bumpy roadbeds; no electric lights, no berths or dining cars... despite delays of hours on end when great herds of migrating buffaloes marooned them in the middle of an endless prairie.

Today, if the train, plane or bus is late, if reservations are hard to get or we can't squeeze into the dining car, we can still take comfort in the fact that America is moving at a pace that has astounded the world.

When this war is won, the transportation facilities of our country will have hung up an incredible record for efficient movement of fighting men and freight—and civilians, too. Meanwhile, public opinion is agreed that we should not travel unless absolutely necessary and, if we must go, take inconveniences cheerfully and patiently—like good soldiers.

SHOULDERS ARE EXAGGERATED IN FALL FASHIONS

By DOROTHY ROE

New York, July 11 (AP)—Working on the theory that a girl needs broad shoulders to stand the gaff in these strenuous times, New York designers highlight exaggerated shoulders, high, wide and handsome, throughout their fall collections.

Balancing the wide, peaked shoulder line are jutting tunics, providing effective camouflage for hips suffering from wartime girdles. The tunic silhouette reaches its height in Adele Simpson's collection, where it appears tagged "Minaret," with a distinctly oriental flavor.

A rich kaleidoscope of colors, luxurious fabrics and encrustations of gold and sequin embroidery make this designer's clothes a gay challenge to drooping spirits. There is an air of preparation for happier days about all the leading collections, now being shown to the nation's press during a crowded week of openings.

Omar Kiam, designing for the house of Ben Reig, introduces the "shirt jabot" in his discreet, beautifully sculptured collection. This is rippling drapery placed low and to one side of the skirt on one-piece crepe daytime frocks.

He presents also the tailored fall suit with a matching elbow length capelet, worn over the jacket. One outstanding example of this new suit treatment is done in red and black checked tweed, with classic jacket and slim, fly-front skirt.

Nettie Rosenstein, whose showing last night was an early sensation in the week of openings, wowed the public with her long tunic jackets, worn over one-piece dresses made to look like the skirt and blouse of a suit. Favorite color combination was "baba rhum" brown with black—a ginger tone which emerges as one of the favorite colors for fall.

CHINCH BUGS DESTROY CORN SAYS HARTMAN

"Many Adams county farmers are finding their corn fields heavily infested with millions of small insects that are causing severe damage and in many instances have already caused the corn plants to die. Insect damage is usually first noticed where corn fields adjoin wheat and barley fields," said M. T. Hartman, county agent.

"These small insects are known as chinch bugs and the adult bug is about one-fifth of an inch long with a black body. Its white wings lie folded over each other on the abdomen and are marked by a small black triangle on their outer margins, while the bases of the antennae and the legs are red. The young bugs are yellowish or bright red marked with brownish black, becoming darker as they grow older. Chinch bugs pass the winter in the adult stage and hide in trash, fence rows and in large bunches of grass. They feed only on cereal crop plants, grains, grasses and corn."

Seek Grain Fields

"In early summer the bugs migrate to grain fields where they lay their eggs and hatch out in immature stages of chinch bugs and feed on grain crops but do not do serious damage."

"When grain ripens or at harvest time, there is little sap left in the plant for the bugs to feed on so they start for the corn field. They will continue to feed on corn for several weeks or until the corn gets tough enough until it is not attractive. By this time the bugs become adults again and seek protected places for overwintering."

"About eight years ago we had a severe outbreak of chinch bugs in Adams county at which time many acres of corn were completely destroyed."

"Dry, hot weather is especially favorable for chinch bugs. Frequent rains would retard the progress of chinch bugs and would give our corn fields a much needed spurt," he said.

How to Curb Bugs

County Agent Hartman declares that the most practical way to keep the chinch bugs from migrating into corn fields is by plowing a furrow 8 to 10 inches deep with the straight edge of the furrow on the side of the field, which is free of chinch bugs, the ground being turned toward the infested area. The dragging of a log through the furrow to create a dust mulch will prevent the bugs from crossing over. Although chinch bugs have wings in the adult stage, they travel on foot.

It will be helpful if the log is dragged through the furrow in the morning and afternoon as thousands of chinch bugs can be killed in this way.

Due to scarcity of chemicals and insecticides, it is not practical to use any of these materials under present conditions.

TOKYO REPORTS FLEET ACTION

New York, July 11 (AP)—The Japanese radio said today that "a very powerful enemy fleet consisting of two aircraft carriers and more than 30 cruisers and destroyers are playing the waters northwest of Tinian island" in the Marianas.

The radio report, a Domei agency advisory recorded by U. S. government monitors, said 90 planes attacked the stolen American island of Guam in the Marianas on July 10 and that cruisers and destroyers shelled Japanese positions on Guam while other aircraft were bombing Tinian and Rota. All are in the same island group as captured Saipan, 1,465 miles from Tokyo.

Domei said "several large planes and more than 50 small planes" were observed using Aslito airfield on the southern end of Saipan island, first captured strip in the Marianas, which has been in operation a week or more.

The Berlin radio said the United States "possesses considerable supremacy in aircraft carriers" in the Marianas.

Scrap Collections For June Reported

47,000 pounds of rags.

6,000 pounds of household fats.

6 tons of tin cans, ready to be shipped.

7 tons of prepared tin cans shipped to detinning plants.

6 tons of tin cans collected.

145 tons of waste paper.

FARLEY IS OUT AS CHAIRMAN

New York, July 11 (AP)—James A. Farley "Smiling Big Jim" bows out today as Democratic state chairman, his last of many official party positions during 35 years in politics.

The 56-year-old Farley, who opposed a third term for President Roosevelt after directing the campaigns that won his first eight years in the White House, kept to himself his future role in American politics.

Paul E. Fitzpatrick, 47, Buffalo businessman whom National Committee Edward J. Flynn termed "100 per cent for Roosevelt," was slated to succeed Farley in the post he held for 14 years. Fitzpatrick will be recommended by leaders to a special meeting of the state committee today.

Farley, who in 1940 stepped down as postmaster general and as national chairman, said at a testimonial dinner for him last night that he would "always be interested in the success of my party" but gave no hint of his probable course at the Democratic national convention next week.

Farley, a delegate-at-large, has not disclosed whether he will actively oppose a fourth term for the President as he did in 1940 when he was a candidate himself.

SHOULDERS ARE EXAGGERATED IN FALL FASHIONS

By DOROTHY ROE

New York, July 11 (AP)—Working on the theory that a girl needs broad shoulders to stand the gaff in these strenuous times, New York designers highlight exaggerated shoulders, high, wide and handsome, throughout their fall collections.

Balancing the wide, peaked shoulder line are jutting tunics, providing effective camouflage for hips suffering from wartime girdles. The tunic silhouette reaches its height in Adele Simpson's collection, where it appears tagged "Minaret," with a distinctly oriental flavor.

A rich kaleidoscope of colors, luxurious fabrics and encrustations of gold and sequin embroidery make this designer's clothes a gay challenge to drooping spirits. There is an air of preparation for happier days about all the leading collections, now being shown to the nation's press during a crowded week of openings.

Omar Kiam, designing for the house of Ben Reig, introduces the "skirt jabot" in his discreet, beautifully sculptured collection. This is rippling drapery placed low and to one side of the skirt on one-piece crepe daytime frocks.

He presents also the tailored fall suit with a matching elbow length capelet, worn over the jacket. One outstanding example of this new suit treatment is done in red and black checked tweed, with classic jacket and slim, fly-front skirt.

Nettie Rosenstein, whose showing last night was an early sensation in the week of openings, wowed the public with her long tunic jackets, worn over one-piece dresses made to look like the skirt and blouse of a suit. Favorite color combination was "baba rium" brown with black—a ginger tone which emerges as one of the favorite colors for fall.

When Buffaloes Stopped the Iron Horse ...TRAVELERS WERE PATIENT

Remembering the hardships of the stagecoach and covered wagon days, travelers once looked upon the new woodburner trains as solid luxury... despite choking smoke, bumpy roadbeds; no electric lights, no berths or dining cars... despite delays of hours on end when great herds of migrating buffaloes marooned them in the middle of an endless prairie.

Today, if the train, plane or bus is late, if reservations are hard to get or we can't squeeze into the dining car, we can still take comfort in the fact that America is moving at a pace that has astounded the world.

When this war is won, the transportation facilities of our country will have hung up an incredible record for efficient movement of fighting men and freight—and civilians, too. Meanwhile, public opinion is agreed that we should not travel unless absolutely necessary and, if we must go, take inconveniences cheerfully and patiently—like good soldiers.

In addition to supplying the armed forces with glider and bomber fuselage frames, wing parts, gun turret parts and foodstuffs, Anheuser-Busch produces materials which go into the manufacture of: Rubber • Aluminum • Munitions • Medicines • B Complex Vitamins • Hospital Diets • Baby Foods • Bread and other Bakery products • Vitamin-fortified cattle feeds • Batteries • Paper • Soap and Textiles—to name a few.

An Evening Thought
A man should never be ashamed to own he has been in the wrong, which is but saying in other words that he is wiser today than he was yesterday.—Pope.

Just Folks
SYMBOLS
There are several bits of ribbon on the left side of his coat. And a special bit of ribbon on the right.
And one with eyes to read them very easily can note
Where he's been, and what he's done, in freedom's fight.
If a shield is on his shoulder on his wing side, it's to say:
He has done a bit of flying from Rangoon to Mandalay.
If you see him at a table in a tailored suit of tan,
He may look as though he'd never been away.
But those ribbons on his tunic show he's been a fighting man.
And has looked at death and danger, night and day.
If you're eyes to read the symbols—soldier, sailor or marine,
China, England or New Guinea—they will tell you where he's been.

Round the world our boys are going into battle every day.
In the strangest sort of places now they're known.
Some can hear "the paddles chunkin'" from Rangoon to Mandalay.
To the Arctic and the tropic they've been flown.
And we stay-at-homes should know them—pilots, sailors and Marines.
Soldiers, Coast Guards and the Sea-bees from the far-flung battles scenes.

Today's Talk
SOMEWHERE
We are all headed for somewhere. Few of us have much of an idea where that is, but we carry hope around in our hearts and keep going. Like touring to some planned destination, we drive over uncertain roads until we reach some corner marking our right road.
I came across a sentence of Thoreau that interested my speculation. He said: "At most I hope to make a sort of raft of Friendship, on which with a few of our treasures, we may float to some far land."
I can think of nothing more consoling than the company of a few friends, a treasure or so, and a journey on such a fact, as Thoreau suggested, to some definite land of our dreams. The tragedy of life is that so many make the short journey with neither raft nor friends and with no objective in mind.
How often we have conversed on acquaintance and asked the question: "Where are you going?" And then answer: "To see a friend" or like that. But, dear friends, are you going somewhere?

Many years ago I read an interesting book, a tale of one increasing purpose. The title intrigued me. I looked for it there that there should be an answer—well there must be a purpose.
To do no more than to report a man to one face in a day is something—but to bring a smile to the face of light or to give a hand to a still sufferer. We can do that. When the shot of O'Connell's gun came to a halt, a man was returning to his home in France. In the quietest of the Pacific and in strange lands, there are some who are suffering from the effects of the war. And somewhere in our hearts a constant prayer goes out to them, and to those under their selfish and sympathetic care.

MILITARY MAY COMPROMISE ON NELSON'S PLAN
By STERLING GREEN
Washington, July 11 (AP)—Signs emerged today that the military may prove willing to compromise with PWB Chairman Donald M. Nelson on his disputed program paving the way for reconversion.
Army and Navy sources indicated, however, that the controversy would be carried to the White House, where James P. Byrnes, director of the office of war mobilization, stated yesterday that he would make the decision if necessary.
From well informed government sources it was learned that the Navy is unalterably opposed to only one of the four orders which were sponsored and announced by Nelson.
Harmonious So Far
Whether this is true of the war department could not be learned. The two services have acted in harmony to date, and made their most telling protest in the form of a letter from the joint chiefs of staff to Nelson.

The remaining order—declared unacceptable in its present form—is the one most important from the standpoint of civilian consumers. It would permit WPB field offices to grant "spot authorization" to manufacturers to produce certain needed goods, if the manufacturer could prove he had labor and machinery not needed for war work.
One major objection might be cleared up, it was indicated, if provision were included for the "spot" decisions to be thoroughly checked by military, manpower and production officials in Washington.

DEMOCRATS TO SEEK ACCORD ON FOREIGN POLICY
Washington, July 11 (AP)—The chairman of the Democratic platform committee, John W. McCormack, said today he expects full agreement at Chicago next week on a plank calling for "sound and international action to prevent war and assure permanent peace."

McCormack, the majority leader in the house, pointed a verbal rocket at the Republican declaration of policy.
"This is no time to compromise on the future peace of the world as the Republican platform did," he told The Associated Press by telephone from Boston. "The Republican platform is negative on one of the liveliest issues of today—permanent peace, which is on the mind of everyone, particularly those who loved ones in the armed services."

"No Evasive Statements"
In Washington, Senator Claude Pepper of Florida, member of the platform committee, seconded McCormack's statement, declaring "there will be no hedging or equivocation" on foreign affairs by the Democratic platform.

HEAVY ALLIED BOMBER UNITS POUND MUNICH
London, July 11 (AP)—Allied heavy bomber formations were declared by the Nazi radio to be striking deep into the Munich area of Germany today after British Mosquitos before dawn pocked Berlin with two-ton bombs.
The Germans told of sky battles over Munich itself, southern German shrine city of the Nazi party. Intense flak was declared thrown up at the attackers. Munich (pop. 322,525) is a railway center for traffic into Italy and France and a frequent Allied target. It is Germany's fourth city, the capital of Bavaria and 25 miles north of the foothills of the Alps.
While one ground of Mosquitos gave Berlin burghers another sleepless night, other formations of this "night cavalry of the air" coursed over northeast France harassing German troops bivouacs and transport. Berlin said Mannheim, near the Reich's western border, was one of the industrial targets. One Mosquito was lost.
The reported daylight attacks on Germany today were the first in four days.

Pound Nazi Troops
The Mosquito penetrations into France were concentrated in the Amiens-Lille-St. Quentin-Laon-Compiègne area, extending northeast of Paris to the Belgian border. Bridges over the Seine, being employed by the Germans to rush forces to the battlefront 50 miles to the west, were attacked once more.
In one of the few operations in yesterday's murky weather, rocketing Typhoons, bomb-carrying Spitfires and RAF Mustangs poured explosives and fire into German troops driven into the woods southeast of Czen by the British-Canadian capture of that city.

An Evening Thought
A man should never be ashamed to own he has been in the wrong, which is but saying in other words that he is wiser today than he was yesterday.—Pope.

Just Folks
SYMBOLS
There are several bits of ribbon on the left side of his coat. And a special bit of ribbon on the right.
And one with eyes to read them very easily can note
Where he's been, and what he's done, in freedom's fight.
If a shield is on his shoulder on his wing side, it's to say:
He has done a bit of flying from Rangoon to Mandalay!
If you see him at a table in a tailored suit of tan,
He may look as though he'd never been away,
But those ribbons on his tunic show he's been a fighting man,
And has looked at death and danger, night and day.
If you've eyes to read the symbols—soldier, sailor or marine,
China, England or New Guinea—they will tell you where he's been.
'Round the world our boys are going into battle every day.
In the strangest sort of places now they're known.
Some can hear "the paddles chunkin" from Rangoon to Mandalay."
To the Arctic and the tropic they've been flown.
And we stay-at-homes should know them—pilots, sailors and Marines,
Soldiers, Coast Guards and the Sea-bees from the far-flung battles scenes.

Today's Talk
SOMEWHERE
We are all headed for somewhere. Few of us have much of an idea where that is, but we carry hope around in our hearts and keep going. Like touring to some planned destination, we drive over uncertain roads until we reach some corner marking our right road.
I came across a sentence by Thoreau that interested my speculation. He said: "At most I hope to make a sort of raft of Friendship, on which with a few of our treasures, we may float to some firm land."
I can think of nothing more consoling than the company of a few friends, a treasure or so, and a journey on such a fact, as Thoreau suggested, to some definite land of our dreams. The tragedy of life is that so many make the short journey with neither raft nor friends—and with no objective in mind.
How often we have accosted an acquaintance and asked the question: "Where are you going?" And then answer: "To see a friend." I like that journey best—to see a friend—with a friend. You feel that you are going somewhere then!
Many years ago I read an absorbing book by the title of "One Increasing Purpose." The title intrigued me. I decided then and there that there could be no better pursuit—there must be a purpose.
To do no more than to bring a smile to one face in a day is something—but to bring a smile plus a ray of light, or of hope, or of faith, is still better. We can catch a ride upon the back of Opportunity, and ride to many a destination, where is need for such as we are, and have to give. Someone, somewhere, is in need of us.
Somewhere in France, in the scattered islands of the Pacific, and in strange lands, nurses are administering to our heroic boys—angels of mercy, if ever there were such. And somewhere in our hearts a continual prayer goes out to them, and to those under their selfless and sympathetic care.
Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Roots in the Past"

Out Of The Past
From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times
FIFTY YEARS AGO
Local Miscellany: A Rambler bicycle was shot off by the Rifle club last week. The winner was William Ogden, clerk in Mayer's store. Five scores of twelve out of a possible twelve were made. On the shoot off eleven won. Henry J. Brinkerhoff and James H. Eicholtz did the shooting.
The Gettysburg base ball club has been organized. Preston S. Tate is manager and Donald P. McPherson, captain. The team is open to challenges.
Comrade Chase and William Everhart have purchased the cyclorama and intend to keep it here until after the encampment of the National Guard. They may take it to the Grangers' Pic-Nic, and later travel with it through the South.

The New Water: For the first time water was pumped Monday from the new supply—Marsh Creek. The filtering pump is not in working order, but the water was so low in the reservoir that the company felt it necessary to pump to guard against fire. In a few hours two feet were put into the reservoir and it will be only a few more days until the citizens will have all they need. Even without the filterer, the water is not cloudy, and could not be distinguished from the old, if it were not for the taste of the gas tar, with which the pipes were coated.

Personal Mention: Among the recent graduates at the Shippensburg Normal school were Miss Mary Myers and Chas. A. Trostle, both of Huntingdon township.
Mrs. Hoag and daughter, of Titusville, are spending some days with Mrs. Jennie S. Croil.
Mrs. Dr. Bush, of Bellefonte, is on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Ramer.
The Rev. G. W. Baker and wife of Nebraska, are visiting ex-shepherd Samuel Wolf and wife, parents of Mrs. Baker.
Miss Ethel Wolf has returned from Durham, N.C.
The Rev. Daniel Garland and wife of Baltimore, were visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Comfort last week.
Miss Agnes McCreary is visiting her cousin, Mrs. David Hoke, near Hanover.

George P. Weaver, of Center Mills, who was graduated in May from the Hahnemann Medical college, Philadelphia, and who recently passed a very creditable examination before the State Board of Medical Examiners, will locate in Arendtsville, this county.
Mrs. Nellie Grant Sartoris and Senator N. C. Blanchard, of Louisiana, were in town on Thursday afternoon, doing the battlefield under the direction of Guide Minnigh. They registered at the Eagle and returned to the Blue Mountain House by the evening train.
The Rev. Cyrus Fleck and family and the Rev. O. H. Melchor are visiting friends in town.
General H. Kyd Douglas and Mrs. Nellie Grant Sartoris and Naval Officer Schrey and wife, of Hagerstown went over the field on Monday afternoon.
Miss Mary B. Trout, of McConnellsburg, is visiting the Misses Coburn.

The Outlook Is Encouraging: Matters looked much more reassuring at Chicago yesterday. There was no serious conflict between the rioters and the armed forces, and from other sections of the West comes the news that strikers are returning to work.
The federal trades union at Chicago had decided to call off all classes of labor on Tuesday afternoon, but subsequently Grand Master Sovereign decided to defer the general walkout until Wednesday morning. All, however, depends on the action of President Gompers, who is expected at Chicago some time on Wednesday. Another important feature of the day's happenings was the refusal of Vice President Wickes, of the Pullman company to consent to arbitration. He contended that there was nothing to arbitrate.

MILITARY MAY COMPROMISE ON NELSON'S PLAN
By STERLING GREEN
Washington, July 11 (AP)—Signs emerged today that the military may prove willing to compromise with PWB Chairman Donald M. Nelson on his disputed program paving the way for reconversion.
Army and Navy sources indicated, however, that the controversy would be carried to the White House, where James F. Byrnes, director of the office of war mobilization, stated yesterday that he would make the decision if necessary.
From well informed government sources it was learned that the Navy is unilaterally opposed to only one of the four orders which were sponsored and announced by Nelson.

Harmonious So Far
Whether this is true of the war department could not be learned. The two services have acted in harmony to date, and made their most telling protest in the form of a letter from the joint chiefs of staff to Nelson.
The remaining order—declared unacceptable in its present form—is the one most important from the standpoint of civilian consumers. It would permit WPB field offices to grant "spot authorization" to manufacturers to produce certain needed goods, if the manufacturer could prove he had labor and machinery not needed for war work.
One major objection might be cleared up, it was indicated, if provision were included for the "spot" decisions to be thoroughly checked by military, manpower and production officials in Washington.

GOP TO DISCUSS WILLKIE'S ROLE

Albany, N. Y., July 11 (AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey, moving into his second round of talks with Republican Congressional leaders, was to meet today a Connecticut delegation headed by Sen. John A. Danaher and Rep. Clare Boothe Luce amid indications that the possible campaign role of Wendell L. Willkie would be among the topics of discussion.
Mrs. Luce, a former supporter of the 1940 presidential nominee, was reported last week as arranging to bring Willkie and Dewey together. Willkie subsequently denied the report.
The name of the 1940 standard-bearer also figured in a reporter's meeting last night with an 11-member delegation of Republican members of congress from Massachusetts.
Sen. Sinclair Weeks, one of two Willkie backers named to the new Republican national executive committee, said, in a response to a question, that he (Weeks) was "satisfied" with Dewey's foreign policy stand. He declined, however, to interpret Willkie's views except to say that he believed "Willkie has sincere convictions and will be governed by them."
House Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin, another member of the Bay State group, also touched on the part the party's former nominee will play in the campaign, asserting he always had believed Willkie would support the ticket.

Littlestown Lions Club Installs Heads

Officers were installed at the semi-monthly dinner meeting of the Littlestown Lions club Thursday evening.
The Rev. Kenneth D. James, a past president, installed the following officers: President, E. A. Rebert; first vice president, Q. D. Rebert; second vice president, Irvin R. Kindig; third vice president, Holman L. Sell; secretary, Samuel L. Bucke; treasurer, Edgar A. Wolfe; tall twister, Harry J. Koonitz; lion tamer, W. A. Crabbs; song leader, J. Edgar Yealy and Edgar A. Wolfe; pianist, Herbert Sell, and directors for two years, H. Dean Stover and Reid C. Eppelman. Directors now in office for one year are Irvin R. Kindig and R. L. Crouse.
The newly-installed president, E. A. Rebert, took charge of the meeting.

New Air Raid Alert Plan For Western Pa.

Pittsburgh, July 11 (AP)—Volunteer personnel of the Allegheny county control center will take over the task of alerting western Pennsylvania in case of air raid or disaster, county civilian defense chairman Ross Leffler announced today.
Formerly the 16 counties in this area have been alerted by the Army warning center in Buffalo. Now the warning will come from the Third Service command at Baltimore, by way of Harrisburg, to Pittsburgh and will be fanned out from here.

DEMOCRATS TO SEEK ACCORD ON FOREIGN POLICY

Washington, July 11 (AP)—The chairman of the Democratic platform committee, John W. McCormack, said today he expects full agreement at Chicago next week on a plank calling for "sound and international action to prevent war and assure permanent peace."
McCormack, the majority leader in the house, pointed a verbal rocket at the Republican declaration of policy.
"This is no time to compromise on the future peace of the world as the Republican platform did," he told The Associated Press by telephone from Boston. "The Republican platform is negative on one of the living issues of today—permanent peace, which is on the mind of everyone, particularly those with loved ones in the armed services." The Republicans advocated the use of "peace forces" to keep world order.

"No Evasive Statements"

In Washington, Senator Claude Pepper of Florida, member of the platform committee, seconded McCormack's statement, declaring "there will be no hedging or equivocation" on foreign affairs by the Democratic platform.
"We are not going to make any evasive statements," Pepper said, "but we will give the American people a direct commitment that we favor an effective international organization and association which will keep the world's peace."
The platform committee will open public hearings in Chicago Saturday.

"White Supremacy" Issue
Meanwhile, most of its members kept silent on the touchy race question, which involves both the cries of "white supremacy" in the south and the important negro vote in the north.
Some platform-writers are considering transplanting the language of the 1940 platform, dealing with the subject "Negroes," which read: "We shall continue to strive for complete legislative safeguards against discrimination in government service and benefits, and in the national defense forces. We pledge to uphold due process and the equal protection of the laws for every citizen, regardless of race, creed, or color."

Rep. Clare Luce Sets Hair Fashion

Baltimore, July 11 (AP)—The frou-frou coiffure displayed by Rep. Clare Luce at the Republican national convention settled today a hair fashion council debate on the fate of feminine locks this fall.
Mrs. Luce's Chicago coiffure remained the favorite as 100 delegates to the council convention split hairs on the pompadour, frou-frou and fluffy or flat hair-dos.
Frou-frou supporters, who said they gained their inspiration from Helen of Troy, also contended that defense workers would be able to wear the new hair style beneath helmets without squashing the curls.

WAC Gets Medal For Rescue Effort

Washington, July 11 (AP)—WAC Private First Class Mary Jane Ford of Los Angeles has been awarded the Soldier's Medal for a valiant but vain attempt to save the life of a soldier at Airport lake, near Camp McCoy, Wis.

The girl watched Private Flavius M. Hopkins, an x-ray technician, start out last May to swim across the lake, then become exhausted and sink. She plunged in, swam to the spot, dove and towed Hopkins to the shore, then applied artificial respiration until a mechanical respirator arrived, but efforts to save his life failed.
Now assigned to the Signal Corps at Washington, she will receive the medal here at a date to be fixed later.

SOLDIER FOUND DEAD

Greensburg, Pa., July 11 (AP)—A soldier who was to have returned to Ft. Miles, Del., yesterday after spending a 10-day furlough with his parents in Manor, Pa., was found dead in his automobile, Coroner H. Albert McMurray reported. McMurray said the soldier, T-5 Earle N. McCurry, died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

HEAVY ALLIED BOMBER UNITS POUND MUNICH

London, July 11 (AP)—Allied heavy bomber formations were declared by the Nazi radio to be striking deep into the Munich area of Germany today after British Mosquitos before dawn poked Berlin with two-ton bombs.
The Germans told of sky battles over Munich itself, southern German shrine city of the Nazi party. Intense flak was declared thrown up at the attackers. Munich (pop. 823,325) is a railway center for traffic into Italy and France and a frequent Allied target. It is Germany's fourth city, the capital of Bavaria and 25 miles north of the foothills of the Alps.
While one ground of Mosquitos gave Berlin burghers another sleepless night, other formations of this "night cavalry of the air" coursed over northeast France harassing German troops bivouacs and transport. Berlin said Mannheim, near the Reich's western border, was one of the industrial targets. One Mosquito was lost.
The reported daylight attacks on Germany today were the first in four days.

Found Nazi Troops

The Mosquito penetrations into France were concentrated in the Amiens-Lille-St. Quentin-Laon-Compiègne area, extending north-east of Paris to the Belgian border. Bridges over the Seine, being employed by the Germans to rush forces to the battlefield 50 miles to the west, were attacked once more.
In one of the few operations in yesterday's murky weather, rocket-firing Typhoons, bomb-carrying Spitfires and RAF Mustangs poured explosives and fire into German troops driven into the woods south-east of Caen by the British-Canadian capture of that city.
Despite the adverse conditions fighter-bombers ran up more than 300 individual flights by last evening. American fighter-bombers dive-bombed German gun positions and strong points southeast and southwest of Lessay and east of St. Lo.

ACTOR WEDS
Santa Monica, Calif., July 11 (AP)—Actor Lionel Atwill and Mary Paula Shilstone, radio singer and producer and a native of Louisville, Ky., were married Friday in Las Vegas, Nev. Atwill was divorced last year by Mrs. Louise Cromwell Atwill, the first wife of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Hope Of Agreement By Texans Fading

Austin, Texas, July 11 (AP)—Hopes of an agreement between warring Texas Democrats faded today with a statement from former State Senator Roy Sanderford, permanent chairman of the regularly constituted Democratic convention, that there would be no compromise.
Sanderford's faction refused to bind its electors to vote for the party's presidential nominee unless the National convention at Chicago fulfilled certain conditions, including restoration of the two-thirds rule and adoption of a platform plank critical of the supreme court's recent negro vote decision.
The pro-Roosevelt group split with the regular convention and formed its own, then named delegates pledged to vote for President Roosevelt renomination and electors bound to support the party's nominee.

SCHOOLMAN DIES

NAZI PRISONERS

Had Camp Raincoats

The prisoners had with them their camp raincoats on which the letters "PW" were still in place. The letters did not appear on any of the clothing they were wearing when captured. The prisoners were not armed.

They seemed in good spirits and smiled continuously in the York post station.

Their English was described by the York officers as "poor" and little information had been secured about their movements since they escaped over the stockade early last Monday morning. It brought on a two-state manhunt led by the FBI with local authorities and state police being required to run down a steady stream of "tips" from nearly every part of this country and in many sections of the state.

They were described this morning as being apparently in good condition. One was badly in need of a shave. The other's beard was very light.

Used Hideout

The prisoners, Thomas Kostanick, 27, and Axel Ostermaier, 22, both infantry sergeants in the German Army before their capture, were taken into custody by these state policemen from York: Sergeant Gibbs, Cpl. A. J. Swalinick, Pvt. Leslie Jackson and Pvt. J. A. Tappe. Police disclosed they had searched that section Monday evening after justice of the Peace John P. Strickhouse, of York-New Salem, reported he had come upon two men answering the description of the prisoners in a hideout along a stream where he was fishing.

The search Monday evening was fruitless. The farmhouse where the capture was made today was about a mile and a half from the hideout along the stream.

The FBI said last week that the prisoners are not guilty of any crime under international law and will not be subject to punishment for escaping from the camp here.

Americans smashing west from the Vire and south along both banks of the river.

Resistance Ceases

The Americans captured and pushed south of Pont Hibern, four miles northwest of St. Lo. East of the river they captured La Meausse, four miles north of the same city. These advances represented gains of more than a mile and one-half in the past 24 hours.

The capture of Graignes practically merged the Vire river fighting with that south of Carentan.

The combined pressure from these two drives appeared to be forcing the Germans in the Cherbourg peninsula sector into a withdrawal southward.

This was borne out by the fact that the Americans, who have been encountering an unceasing series of counterattacks in the La Haye du Puits area, launched a stiff attack at 10 a. m. yesterday and reported that suddenly at noon German heavy resistance ceased.

Hope Abandoned For Trapped Miners

Bellaire, O., July 11 (AP)—Rescue crews tried to contact 66 men entombed at nearby Powhatan mine through a new shaft today, but only an eerie silence greeted their shouts into the pit and they virtually abandoned all hope the coal miners were alive.

Final efforts to get a response from the tunnel where the miners were trapped by fire last Wednesday were being made before giving up the imprisoned men for dead.

BAN RECRUITING

Rome, July 11 (AP)—The Germans have forbidden Fascist leaders to recruit troops in the provinces of Trento, Belluno, Bolzano, Trieste and Gorizia in northern Italy and have placed the provinces under Nazi Gauleiters, an Italian who came through the enemy lines said today.

OUT TIRE QUOTA

A sharp reduction in this District's quota of large size truck tires during August, was announced today by the OPA Price Administration. Due to a Regional allotment of only 60,000 truck tires, size 8.25 and over, only about 500 of this type of tire will be available for rationing in this 10-county area next month, it was forecast. The district's July quota was 1,200 tires.

ROTARIANS HEAR

(Continued from Page 1) hospital is one of the few small hospitals to have the machinery to make its own blood plasma, which has brought its cost to patients down from $40 to $10.

Keep Up to Date

Little of the equipment purchased for the hospital in the last 23 years has ever been discarded "because when it was purchased, only the best was bought." The old X-ray machine in the hospital is being used now for X-ray treatment and "is as good as a brand new machine of its power." The new X-ray machine is the "latest word in such machinery." The laboratory at the hospital is "second to none."

Many of the great advancements in medical science in recent years have been discovered since the hospital was founded, including insulin, penicillin and the sulpha drugs. Doctor Wolf pointed out. In each instance the hospital has been among the first to use the new drugs.

The Smith-Peterson nail, which allows the setting of some types of hip fractures without the use of casts was shown to the members of the Rotary club by Doctor Wolf, who also showed a series of X-ray pictures showing the placing of a Smith-Peterson nail in a broken hip of a patient at the local hospital.

The nail, made of stainless steel, remains in the hip socket unless the patient asks that it be removed, after the bone has healed. One patient, in whom a nail was placed several years ago, was recently X-rayed and the nail was shown in its original position, Doctor Wolf said.

In the future, Doctor Wolf said, many different types of fractures will be set without the use of casts. He showed two Zimmermann splints recently purchased by the hospital and which have not yet been used due to the fact that no one has been brought to the hospital with a fracture of the type for which the splint can be used. The splint, used for fractures of the long bones, has four long screws, two to be placed above the break and two below and clamps tight through the use of a number of turnscrows. When it is used on a broken leg a patient can walk immediately after it is placed by the use of crutches. While some people have walked immediately without crutches after the splint has been used on a broken leg, Doctor Wolf pointed out, it is his belief that too much strain should not be placed on the splint and fracture until it is well healed. The advantage of a splint over a cast is that it allows a patient to move about and keeps the muscles from atrophying from lack of use.

Vice President I. Z. Musselman presided at the meeting with 28 members and one guest present.

CHANGE GAS RULE

In a further effort to cut into black market dealings in gasoline, the OPA today provided that qualified operators of fleets of official or commercial motor vehicles may use ration checks in paying for gasoline delivered into the tanks of units of their fleets. The new method will substitute for the present one under which ration coupons are handed over by the drivers at the time gasoline is transferred.

Chapter 8
Martha hurried through the turnstile, up the steps, and into the street. It was five blocks from the subway to the Rand Manufacturing Plant where she and Louise worked—and they were long blocks, too. She glanced at the clock in the drugstore on the corner, and was relieved to see that it was only seven-thirty. There was still half an hour before she could go on duty.

She had a feeling that all was not well with her job. Whether it was due to guilt on her part or should be dismissed as a vague premonition, she did not know. But she could not deny that she was frightened.

"I've been absent four days," she said, appalled at the thought. "And how could I have done otherwise? Poor Angel—what would she have done without me? I had to stay home!"

Miss Larkin had left in a huff, as naturally she would, but not before she had spoken her piece.

"She's your worry from now on, Mrs. Malone. The formulas are in the small suitcase. You'll have to work them out for yourself. You needn't count on getting any help from that glamorous daughter of yours. She's too busy being beautiful. She's too busy being beautiful." She threw a scornful glance at Angel, adding, "I could tell you a few things that would make your hair curl, if I was a mind to do."

How could she say such dreadful things about Angel? Poor Angel who was so crushed—and so wonderfully brave. It gave Martha a sense of satisfaction to remember that she'd said:

"Stop it, Miss Larkin! I won't have you talking like that about my daughter. Have you no pity—no decency?"

Angel had burst into tears and sunk down into the nearest chair, but the infuriated Miss Larkin had had no pity on her. "That's right—cry," she had snapped. "If I do you good maybe. You ought to be thankful I don't sue you for bringing me here under false pretenses. You tell me it's a house in the suburbs you're coming to—what a room to myself and a day off a week. I believe you, because we're coming by plane. And what do I find? A dump in Brooklyn!" She snorted, then raised her voice and added by way of a final touch:

"A fine place to bring a baby. I must say. No sunlight, no air, no nothing. If she don't get sick and die on your hands—well, you can't say I didn't warn you. At least I'm not responsible."

Martha had opened her mouth to speak, but the reference to Baby Jeanne had frightened her into silence. She did not need Miss Larkin's grim warning to convince her that it was no place for a baby.

The next three days had been more than hectic. As Miss Larkin had predicted, Martha had assumed full charge of Baby Jeanne. Too, there were formulas to prepare, clothes to wash, meals to cook—not to mention the thousand and one tasks that are necessary when an adult household must be reorganized to meet the needs of a young baby. Martha had gone about it cheerfully. Even to herself she would not acknowledge that she was tired, desperately tired.

"You don't get tired when you're doing things for people you love," she kept reminding herself over and over again. "At least, you aren't supposed to."

But it didn't keep her back from hurting, or her tired muscles from protesting with pain. And it didn't erase that gnawing fear that was always in the back of her mind: the fear that she wasn't being any too efficient.

Try as hard as she might, Martha seemed always to be coming the wrong thing. Angel, who was frank to confess her ignorance regarding the right way to care for a baby, had an uncanny instinct for detecting the wrong way.

Coupled with Martha's fear of doing the wrong thing was the memory of Miss Larkin's warning.

"So she can't take it. Then Louise was right," thought Martha, recalling Louise's remark when a few weeks before, the wealthy Elsa Rand and several of her friends had come to work at the plant. Louise had said, in her usual matter-of-fact way, "Just watch them told up and quit—when they find out it's real work, not police flag-waving."

Elsa stopped crying and turned to look at Martha. "I didn't know anyone was here, she said, wiping her eyes and obviously trying to pull herself together.

"I just came in," answered Martha. "I-I heard you crying. Isn't there something I can do for you, Miss Rand? I'm Mrs. Malone, the rest-room attendant. Perhaps—"

The girl sat up and looked at her sharply. "So—you're Mrs. Malone, are you?" Was there a scornful note in her voice? Martha couldn't be quite sure. But she was sure—quite sure—when Elsa added, drawing away:

"No, I'm afraid you can't do anything, Mrs. Malone. That fine-feathered daughter of yours has done enough—more than enough!" She stood up, picked up her cap, took a compact out of her pocket, and ran into the lavatory.

Martha stepped back as though she had been slapped in the face. What had Louise done to Elsa Rand that she should behave like this? Why, they didn't even know each other, didn't even work on the same shift. Perhaps Louise had said something that had gotten back to Elsa. Something about society girls who went into defense work just for a lark. Louise was like that—a little too frank and outspoken. Still, Martha would have to warn her to be more discreet.

She started to go back to her locker to put her street clothes away, then noticed the pile of papers on the floor by the couch where Elsa had been lying. She scooped over to pick up the litter, and saw that it was a page clipped from this morning's newspaper. The page containing Angel's pictures, and it had been torn into shreds. Martha gathered up the bits of paper and diven with Baby Jeanne in her arms, holding Jimmie's picture. They had appeared in this morning's newspaper, accompanied by a portrait of Jimmie in uniform.

Now, hurrying to her humble job, after a three-day absence, Martha thought: with pride of Angel's photos. Martha, after entering the plant, had taken her uniform out of the locker and was putting it on before she realized that she was not alone. She paused, a little startled, and listened. The sound of harsh dry soles came to her over the hum of machinery that drifted in through the open windows. She turned quickly and saw that a girl, dressed in blue denim slacks and jumper—the regulation assembly-line uniform—was lying on the couch at the far end of the room. Her hair, which had fallen loose from her cap, was a bright splash of gold on the pillow. Her face was turned toward the wall and her slim young figure was slaking with sobs.

Martha ran over, buttoning her uniform as she did so, and put a hand on the girl's shoulder. The girl turned, and Martha recognized her at once as Elsa Rand, daughter of Silas Rand, the plant's owner. Martha had never seen her at close range before, but the girl had been pointed out to her a number of times.

"So she can't take it. Then Louise was right," thought Martha, recalling Louise's remark when a few weeks before, the wealthy Elsa Rand and several of her friends had come to work at the plant. Louise had said, in her usual matter-of-fact way, "Just watch them told up and quit—when they find out it's real work, not police flag-waving."

"I just came in," answered Martha. "I-I heard you crying. Isn't there something I can do for you, Miss Rand? I'm Mrs. Malone, the rest-room attendant. Perhaps—"

The girl sat up and looked at her sharply. "So—you're Mrs. Malone, are you?" Was there a scornful note in her voice? Martha couldn't be quite sure. But she was sure—quite sure—when Elsa added, drawing away:

LEADING HITTERS HAVE BAD WEEK

New York, July 11 (AP)—The twelfth week of the 1944 major league baseball season goes into the record books as the week leading hitters didn't hit—and lost their leadership.

Thurman Tucker of the Chicago White Sox, who led the American just a week ago with a robust .375 average, collected only one hit in 31 times at bat—an average of .032 for the stretch—and his year's mark skidded to .327, putting him in third place.

The same thing happened in the National, where Brooklyn's Dixie Walker, leader last week with .350, went hitless in 18 straight attempts and garnered only two singles in 27 trips—an .074 mark—to slip to second place with .352.

Stan Musial, the 1943 National League batting champion with .357, getting 11 hits in 31 attempts, dropped off .602 from his .362 of last week but the resultant .366 was good for first place in the senior circuit.

The new American League leader is Boston's Bobby Doerr, who averaged .369 last week with 14 hits in 25 trips, raising his percentage to .340 for the year, a gain of .017. Pete Fox of Boston held on to second place in the American, although dropping four percentage points to .333. Doerr hit only 270 last year, and Fox 288.

Girl Hurt In Unusual Mishap

Eric, Pa., July 11 (AP)—Rose Lee Bell, 26, was not in a position to appreciate automatic car device today.

Rose Lee was a passenger in a car that ran out of gas. The driver, who went in search of a filling station, locked the car, automatically locking the steering wheel. When a motorist volunteered to push the stranded auto, the locked wheel sent the car over an embankment.

Rose Lee suffered a fractured pelvis and lung injuries.

stuffed them into her uniform pocket.

"What does it mean?" she whispered. "Angel's beautiful pictures torn to shreds!"

It was not until she rose to her feet that she saw the picture of Jimmie. It had been carefully clipped out of the page and was lying half under the couch pillow where Elsa, in her haste to get away from Martha, had left it. Martha reached over and picked up the picture. It was sodden and damp.

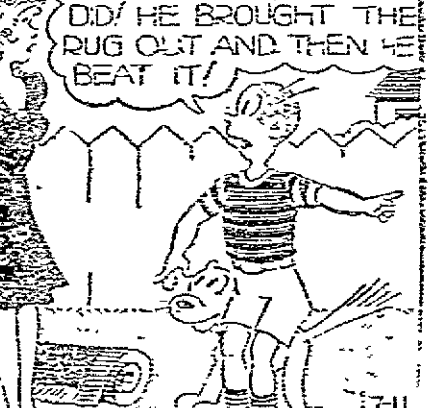

"What does it mean?" Martha repeated. "Jimmie's picture carefully clipped out—and wet with another girl's tears."

She stood motionless for a moment, trying to find the answer. Then the door opened and the girl's from the graveyard shift began to file in. Hastily, she stuffed Jimmie's picture into her pocket, along with the mutilated pictures of Angel. There was no time to think now. It was eight o'clock and her working day had begun.

"Stop it, Miss Larkin! I won't have you talking like that about my daughter. Have you no pity—no decency?"

Angel had burst into tears and sunk down into the nearest chair, but the infuriated Miss Larkin had had no pity on her. "That's right—cry," she had snapped. "It'll do you good maybe. You ought to be thankful I don't sue you for bringing me here under false pretenses. You tell me it's a house in the suburbs we're coming to, with a room to myself and a day off a week. I believe you, because we're coming by plane. And what do I find? A dump in Brooklyn!" She snorted, then raised her voice and added by way of a final touch:

"A fine place to bring a baby. I must say. No sunlight, no air, no nothing. If she don't get sick and die on your hands—well, you can't say I didn't warn you. At least I'm not responsible."

Martha had opened her mouth to speak, but the reference to Baby Jeanne had frightened her into silence. She did not need Miss Larkin's grim warning to convince her that it was no place for a baby.

The next three days had been more than hectic. As Miss Larkin had predicted, Martha had assumed full charge of Baby Jeanne. Too, there were formulas to prepare, clothes to wash, meals to cook—not to mention the thousand and one tasks that are necessary when an adult household must be reorganized to meet the needs of a young baby. Martha had gone about it cheerfully. Even to herself she would not acknowledge that she was tired, desperately tired.

"You don't get tired when you're doing things for people you love," she kept reminding herself over and over again. "At least, you aren't supposed to."

But it didn't keep her back from hurting, or her tired muscles from protesting with pain. And it didn't erase that gnawing fear that was always in the back of her mind: the fear that she wasn't being any too efficient.

Try as hard as she might, Martha seemed always to be doing the wrong thing. Angel, who was frank to confess her ignorance regarding the right way to care for a baby, had an uncanny instinct for detecting the wrong way.

Coupled with Martha's fear of doing the wrong thing was the memory of Miss Larkin's warning, and the terrifying awareness that the dark, poorly ventilated railroad flat was bad for the baby. She would wake up in the night, go over and feel Baby Jeanne's pulse, smooth the soft, damp curls back from the tiny forehead, listen to the quiet, regular breathing. Then she would go back to bed, not to sleep, but to breathe a silent prayer of thanksgiving, say over and over again:

Chapter 9

There had been one heartening interlude in the hectic three days. That was the day following Angel's arrival, when Dick Stanley came to take pictures. For a brief space Angel had put aside her moodiness and become the gay, carefree girl of old. She had put on her prettiest dress, arranged her hair in a most becoming manner, and made a valiant effort to be charming and friendly to the cameraman.

Dick had taken pictures that told a story of a woman's courage in the face of heartbreak and despair. There were poses of Angel standing alone at a window, a letter in her hand. Of Angel holding a telegram; of Angel reading a newspaper, presumably the casualty list. There was a close-up of Baby Jeanne—and one of Angel seated on the divan with Baby Jeanne in her arms, holding Jimmie's picture. They had appeared in this morning's newspaper, accompanied by a portrait of Jimmie in uniform.

Now, hurrying to her humble job, after a three-day absence, Martha thought with pride of Angel's photos.

Martha, after entering the plant, had taken her uniform out of the locker and was putting it on before she realized that she was not alone. She paused, a little startled, and listened. The sound of harsh dry sobs came to her over the hum of machinery that drifted in through the open windows. She turned quickly and saw that a girl, dressed in blue denim slacks and jumper—the regulation assembly-line uniform—was lying on the couch at the far end of the room. Her hair, which had fallen loose from her cap, was a bright splash of gold on the pillow. Her face was turned toward the wall and her slim young figure was shaking with sobs.

Martha ran over, buttoning her uniform as she did so, and put a hand on the girl's shoulder. The girl turned, and Martha recognized her at once as Elsa Rand, daughter of Silas Rand, the plant's owner. Martha had never seen her at close range before, but the girl had been pointed out to her a number of times.

"So she can't take it. Then Louise was right," thought Martha, recalling Louise's remark when a few weeks before, the wealthy Elsa Rand and several of her friends had come to work at the plant. Louise had said, in her usual matter-of-fact way, "Just watch them fold up and quit—when they find out it's real work, not polite flag-waving."

Elsa stopped crying and turned to look at Martha. "I didn't know anyone was here," she said, wiping her eyes and obviously trying to pull herself together.

"I just came in," answered Martha. "I—I heard you crying. Isn't there something I can do for you, Miss Rand? I'm Mrs. Malone, the rest-room attendant. Perhaps—"

The girl sat up and looked at her sharply. "So—you're Mrs. Malone, are you?" Was there a scornful note in her voice? Martha couldn't be quite sure. But she was sure—quite sure—when Elsa added, drawing away:

"No, I'm afraid you can't do anything, Mrs. Malone. That fine-feathered daughter of yours has done enough—more than enough!" She stood up, picked up her cap, took a compact out of her pocket, and ran into the lavatory.

Martha stepped back, as though she had been slapped in the face. What had Louise done to Elsa Rand that she should behave like this? Why, they didn't even know each other, didn't even work on the same shift. Perhaps Louise had said something that had gotten back to Elsa. Something about society girls who went into defense work just for a lark. Louise was like that—a little too frank and outspoken. She, Martha, would have to warn her to be more discreet.

She started to go back to her locker to put her street clothes away, then noticed the pile of papers on the floor by the couch where Elsa had been lying. She stooped over to pick up the litter, and saw that it was a page clipped from this morning's newspaper. The page contained Angel's pictures, and it had been torn into shreds. Martha gathered up the bits of paper and stuffed them into her uniform pocket.

"What does it mean?" she whispered. "Angel's beautiful pictures torn to shreds!"

It was not until she rose to her feet that she saw the picture of Jimmie. It had been carefully clipped out of the page and was lying half under the couch pillow where Elsa, in her haste to get away from Martha, had left it. Martha reached over and picked up the picture. It was sodden and damp.

"What does it mean?" Martha repeated. "Jimmie's picture carefully clipped out—and wet with another girl's tears..."

She stood motionless for a moment, trying to find the answer. Then the door opened and the girls from the graveyard shift began to file in. Hastily, she stuffed Jimmie's picture into her pocket, along with the mutilated pictures of Angel. There was no time to think now. It was eight o'clock and her working day had begun.

LEADING HITTERS HAVE BAD WEEK

New York, July 11 (AP)—The twelfth week of the 1944 major loop baseball season goes into the record books as the week leading hitters didn't hit—and lost their leadership.

Thurman Tucker of the Chicago White Sox, who led the American just a week ago with a robust .375 average, collected only one hit in 31 times at bat—an average of .032 for the stretch—and his year's mark skidded to .327, putting him in third place.

The same thing happened in the National, where Brooklyn's Dixie Walker, leader last week with .380, went hitless in 18 straight attempts and garnered only two bingles in 27 trips—an .074 mark—to slip to second place with .352.

Stan Musial, the 1943 National League batting champion with .357, getting 11 hits in 31 attempts, dropped off .002 from his .368 of last week but the resultant .366 was good for first place in the senior circuit.

The new American League leader is Boston's Bobby Doerr, who averaged 500 last week with 14 hits in 28 trips, hiking his percentage to .340 for the year, a gain of .017. Pete Fox of Boston held on to second place in the American, although dropping four percentage points to .333. Doerr hit only 270 last year, and Fox 288.

Girl Hurt In Unusual Mishap

Rose Lee was a passenger in a car that ran out of gas. The driver, who went in search of a filling station, locked the car, automatically locking the steering wheel. When a motorist volunteered to push the stranded auto, the locked wheel sent the car over an embankment.

Rose Lee suffered a fractured pelvis and lung injuries.

BUCKY WALTERS IS KING TWIRLER UNDER THE ARCS

By TED MEYER

New York, July 11 (AP)—Bucky Walters, Cincinnati's star right hander who is expected to start for the National League in the all-star game at Pittsburgh tonight, is without question the king of night game pitchers in the major leagues.

Since the big show is being played under the lights at Forbes Field, the figures for Walters' night work take on added significance.

Bucky has started nine after dark games for the Reds and hasn't been knocked out yet. He has won eight of the nine and boasts a seven-game winning streak. The only game he lost at night was a 2-0 affair to the Phils on May 18 when Southpaw Ken Ruffenberger quelled the Reds with a three-hitter.

No Equal in American

Bucky has worked 84 innings in the nine games, a couple of which went overtime. He reeled only 65 hits in this span. His best effort was a two-hitter against Pittsburgh at Forbes Field for a 3-0 triumph on June 20. During this same period he issued only 24 walks, hit one batter and fanned 22. Indicative of his effectiveness in the pinches is a total of 63 opposing runners were left stranded.

None of the American league twirlers can approach Walters' mark. Hank Borowy, of the Yanks has yet to start a night game while Tex Hughson, of the Boston Red Sox, won the one he contested he worked.

Bob Muncrief, of the St. Louis Browns; Duto, Leonard, of the Washington Senators, and Bobo Newsum, of the Philadelphia Athletics, appear the best night game twirlers on the American league.

RADIO PROGRAMS

New York, July 11 (AP)—When the Henry Aldrich program signs off for the summer from NBC on Thursday night, it will end a run on that network which began July 2, 1939. In resuming on September 15, the show will move to CBS with an 8 o'clock spot on Sunday nights. This it returns to the network over which it originated, as an act in the Kate Smith Variety Hour. . . . NBC, which for a time after the invasion had been running its schedules two hours longer nightly until 3 a. m., is now signing off at 2 a. m.

Single Wins For Binghamton Nine

(By The Associated Press)

Dick Wentworth's single with two out and two on in the tenth enabled the Binghamton triplets to defeat the Scranton Red Sox 6-4, last night in a battle between the Eastern league's lowest placed clubs.

Other scheduled games were rained out:

Cellar-place Scranton tied the count at 4-4 in the last of the ninth, but slipped behind again in the extra inning to lose all three games of the series.

Pete Kunis, who took over in the ninth after John Moore gave way to a pinch hitter, was the winning pitcher.

The Wilkes-Barre Barons bowed to the Philadelphia Athletics exhibition game 13 to 4.

Brazil was discovered April 22, 1600, by Pedro Alvarez Cabral, a Portuguese navigator.

NATIONALS LEAN ON WALTERS AND HITTING TO WIN

By JACK HAND

Pittsburgh, July 11 (AP)—All-star baseball swings around the major league wheel to Pittsburgh for the first time tonight with Billy Southworth leaning heavily on Cincinnati's Bucky Walters and a starting lineup with a 307 batting bulge to keep the National League's three-year losing streak from becoming a habit. It's 11 to 10 in these parts that he'll succeed.

Manager Joe McCarthy of the Americans is expected to call on a Yankee battery of Hank Borowy and Rollie Hemsley to start the Junior circuit's ninth victory in the 12-game series.

A sell-out crowd of nearly 40,000 is predicted with fair and cooler weather.

Both skippers delayed their arrival until the morning of the game after announcing lineups sprinkled with lefthanded hitters. Lefty Hal Newhouse of Detroit is almost a certainty to see service for the Americans but the Nationals have only one Southpaw, Ken Ruffenberger of the Phils, who may not get a call.

Musial, Walker, Galan In Field

Behind Walters, Southworth is expected to come in with Nate Andrews of the Braves and Rip Sewell of the Pirates. All other National hurlers saw action as starters or relief men Sunday and would be working with only one-day rest. Bill Voiselle of the Giants was added to the staff last night to replace the ailing Max Lanier of the Cards.

McCarthy has Borowy and Bob Muncrief of the Browns fully rested since their last appearances Thursday, Newhouse and Bobo Newsum of the A's pitched Saturday and Rookie Joe Page of the Yanks was passed up on his last regular turn and has been inactive since July 4. Tex Hughson of the Red Sox may have forfeited his chance because he was needed for relief chores both Saturday and Sunday in the tight pennant chase.

Stan Musial of the Cards and Dixie Walker of the Dodgers, who have been waging a scrap for hitting honors, will be in the National outfield with Augie Galan of the Cards. Paul Cavarretta of the Cubs will be on first, Connie Ryan of the Braves at second, Marjorie of the Cards at short and either Whitey Kuroski of the Cards or Bob Elliott of the Pirates on third. Ray Mueller probably will catch Walters with Walker. Cooper taking up the burden later. Shorstop Eddie Miller of the Reds is out with a shoulder injury.

Americans Won Last Year

Vern Stephens of the Browns who has sparked the Sewell forces into the lead by his consistent hitting holds down the important cleanup slot in McCarthy's lineup. Flanking the Brownies' shortstop will be Ken Keltner of the Indians at third. Bobby Doerr of the Red Sox at second and George McQuinn of the White Sox and Stan Spence of the Senators will do the gardening.

Last year's game won by the Americans, 5-3, was the first played entirely under the lights and the second comes at an appropriate time with the majors meeting today in joint session to enact legislation expected to provide unlimited week night play for all desiring.

The American league gave its okay to more games yesterday as it urged prompt renewal of the agreement establishing a high commissioner. The National considered both proposals and the anti-farm system plan made by General Manager Jack Zeller of Detroit but withheld announcement pending the joint session.

Wants Walker To Prove His Punch

Pittsburgh, July 11 (AP)—Ossie (Bulldog) Harris wants Johnny Walker, dusky Philadelphia middleweight, to prove that devastating left hook is as lethal as it looked here one night four weeks ago.

Walker, winner of 25 straight bouts—21 of them by knockouts—landed Harris on dream street, that night in one sudden flash of power in the ninth. "Before he suddenly broke from a half-chin to loose, that left on Bulldog's jaw, the two had combined in a slam-bang affair, including one of the best exhibitions of in-fighting seen here in years, to keep the fans on the edge of their seats throughout.

Harris claims the sudden end to the fight festivities was brought about by the goddess of fortune, or misfortune—rather than by any boxing ability the young Walker possesses.

Bulldog Harris Wins Split Verdict

Pittsburgh, July 11 (AP)—Ossie (Bulldog) Harris, Pittsburgh middleweight, came from behind last night to gain a split decision in his return bout with Johnny Walker of Philadelphia.

Walker knocked Harris out in the ninth round of their fight three weeks ago and was a three-to-one favorite to repeat last night. The referee and one judge voted for Harris and the other judge called it a draw.

Harris weighed 158, Walker 154.

Hagerstown rested in the No. 1 spot of the Interstate league today, a scant game ahead of Wilmington's Blue Rocks, while York beat the Trenton Packers 8 to 5 last night to edge up within a single game of the third-place Allentown Cardinals.

Joe Biros led the York attack with three hits, while Bill Anskel added a homer.

Tonight's games: Trenton at York, Wilmington at Lancaster, and Allentown at Hagerstown.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, July 11 (AP)—If experience counts, the National league should have a big edge in tonight's all-star fray at Pittsburgh. . . . All but seven of the National leaguers have appeared in previous all-star shows and the American has eleven newcomers. . . . Mel Ott hasn't missed a game since 1934 and will set a record by appearing in his eleventh tonight. Another Giant, Joe Medwick, started at the same time and skipped only last year; he's representing his third club, a doubtful distinction shared by the Yankees' Rollie Hemsley and the Red Sox Bob Johnson—Rick Ferrell is the only player who goes clear back to the first all-star game in 1933 but he has been absent since 1932.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Havey J. Boyle, Pittsburgh Post-Gazette: "One young pitcher with the Dodgers, Clyde King, late of North Carolina University, seems to be trying to salvage something out of the present decline. He carries a handbag which carries the somewhat modest request: 'Beat Duke; judging from the way the poor burns have been tottering through the west, there is a question whether they could live up to that worthy ambition.'"

Brubaker Named Manager Of Rocks.

Wilmington, Del., July 11 (AP)—Roy Brubaker, manager of the Bradford, Pa., club in the Pony league, has been appointed manager of the Wilmington Blue Rocks in the Interstate baseball league, succeeded by Fred Dutch Dorman, suspended, Eddie Glennon business manager of the Rocks, announced.

Glennon's announcement yesterday followed by a few hours one by Arthur Ehlers, president of the league, suspending Dorman until July 9, 1945, for striking an umpire at Hagerstown, Md., last Friday night.

CONNIE MACK ENJOYS VIEWS OF OLD STARS

Philadelphia, July 11 (AP)—It was just like a rainy Sunday afternoon with the family album for Connie Mack as he thumbed through the cigarette picture card collection of baseball greats of the 80's and 90's.

Charles Bray of East Bangor, Pa., owner of the 822 cards, brought them to the A's office at Connie's request.

"Why, there's Fessenden," Connie exclaimed. "He was the umpire who would never show up until game time in Baltimore so he would get his share of the applause. But, the fans were wise. They knew if he got an enthusiastic greeting, Fessenden would be sure to give the home team the best of it."

"Grasshopper Jim"

It was a study in facial expression to watch Connie thumb through the pictures of his old friends and associates.

"By golly, here's my man," he exclaimed. "That's Grasshopper Jim Whitney. Jim helped pitch Boston to a National league championship in 1913. I caught him at Washington in '88."

Once the A's manager was skeptical. He said: "Why, that doesn't look like Ed Delahanty, any more than I do." Delahanty, famous as a Phillies slugger won the batting championships of both the National and American leagues.

Good Old Days

The card of Adonis Bill Terry—the oldtime pitcher, not the former Giants' manager—also caught Connie's eye.

"I caught Bill at Pittsburgh and we worked out a plan to make short work of the batter once we had two strikes on him," the 81-year-old manager chuckled. "In those days the catcher did not have to stand so close to the batter until the third strike. Then I would move in and start fussing around."

Connie didn't explain "fussing around" but at that time catchers were known for their bat tipping ability and other tricks now forbidden.

BUCKY WALTERS IS KING TWIRLER UNDER THE ARCS

By TED MEIER

New York, July 11 (AP)—Bucky Walters, Cincinnati's star right hander who is expected to start for the National League in the all-star game at Pittsburgh tonight, is without question the king of night game pitchers in the major leagues.

Since the big show is being played under the lights at Forbes Field, the figures for Walters' night work take on added significance.

Bucky has started nine after dark games for the Reds and hasn't been knocked out yet. He has won seven of the nine and boasts a seven-game winning streak. The only game he lost at night was a 2-0 affair to the Phils on May 18 when Southpaw Ken Raffensberger quelled the Reds with a three-hitter.

No Equal In American
Bucky has worked 84 innings in the nine games, a couple of which went overtime. He yielded only 66 hits in this span. His best effort a two-hitter against Pittsburgh at Forbes Field for a 3-0 triumph on June 20. During this same period he issued only 24 walks, hit one batter and fanned 22. Indicative of his effectiveness in the pinches was a total of 63 opposing runners were left stranded.

None of the American league twirlers can approach Walters' mark. Hank Borowy, of the Yanks, has yet to start a night game while Tex Hughson, of the Boston Red

Carnegie Hopes To Play Ball In Fall

Pittsburgh, July 11 (AP)—Carnegie Tech, out of big football for the past four seasons hopes to play some sort of schedule next fall.

While the Tartans have never announced engagements for the 1944 season, Pitt and West Virginia universities released schedules including games with Tech. Yesterday Michigan State college announced a booking with the Tartans at East Lansing, Nov. 18.

"Yes, we are still clinging to hopes of playing again this fall," said Tech Athletic Director Clarence (Buddy) Overend in commenting on the Michigan State announcement.

"Everything depends on what happens in the next few months," he explained. "We have approximately 450 civilian students right now, most of them in engineering, but Uncle Sam may grab many of them."

ANNOUNCE MATCH
Pittsburgh, July 11 (AP)—Dave McKay, president of the district chapter of the Professional Golfers Association, announced today that the tri-state district qualifier for the match play Championship will be held at the Oakmont country club next Monday.

Sox, won the one arc contest he worked.

Bob Munier, of the St. Louis Browns; Dutch Leonard, of the Washington Senators, and Bobo Newsum, of the Philadelphia Athletics, appear the best night game twirlers on the American league squad, according to the records.

RADIO PROGRAMS

New York, July 11 (AP)—When the Henry Aldrich program signs off for the summer from NBC on Thursday night, it will end a run on that network which began July 2, 1939. In resuming on September 15, the show will move to CBS with an 8 o'clock spot on Sunday nights. This it returns to the network over which it originated, as an act in the Kate Smith Variety Hour. NBC, which for a time after the invasion had been running its schedules two hours longer nightly until 3 a. m., is now signing off at 2 a. m.

Single Wins For Binghamton Nine
(By The Associated Press)
Dick Wentworth's single with two out and two on in the tenth enabled the Binghamton triplets to defeat the Scranton Red-Sox 6-4, last night in a battle between the Eastern league's lowest placed clubs.

Other scheduled games were rained out.

Cellar-place Scranton tied the count at 4-all in the last of the ninth, but slipped behind again in the extra inning to lose all three games of the series.

Pete Kunis, who took over in the ninth after John Moore gave way to a pinch hitter, was the winning pitcher.

The Wilkes-Barre Barons bowed to the Philadelphia Athletics exhibition game 13 to 4.

Brazil was discovered April 22, 1500, by Pedro Alvarez Cabral, a Portuguese navigator.

NATIONALS LEAN ON WALTERS AND HITTING TO WIN

By JACK HAND

Pittsburgh, July 11 (AP)—All-star baseball swings around the major league wheel to Pittsburgh for the first time tonight with Billy Southpaw leaning heavily on Cincinnati's Bucky Walters and a starting lineup with a 307 batting bulge to keep the National League's three-year losing streak from becoming a habit. It's 11 to 10 in these parts that he'll succeed.

Manager Joe McCarthy of the Americans is expected to call on a Yankee battery of Hank Borowy and Rolfe Hensley to start the Junior circuit its ninth victory in the 12-game series.

A sell-out crowd of nearly 40,000 is predicted with fair and cooler weather.

Both skippers delayed their arrival until the morning of the game after announcing lineups sprinkled with left-handed hitters. Lefty Hal Newhouse of Detroit is almost a certainty to see service for the Americans but the Nationals have only one Southpaw, Ken Raffensberger of the Phils, who may not get a call.

Musial, Walker, Galan In Field
Behind Walters, Southworth is expected to come in with Nate Andrews of the Braves and Rip Sewell of the Pirates. All other National hurlers saw action as starters or relief men Sunday and would be working with only one-day rest. Bill Voelke of the Giants was added to the staff last night to replace the ailing Max Lanier of the Cards.

McCarthy has Borowy and Bob Munier of the Browns fully rested since their last appearances Thursday, Newhouse and Bobo Newsome of the A's pitched Saturday and Rookie Joe Page of the Yanks was passed up on his last regular turn and has been inactive since July 4. Tex Hughson of the Red Sox may have forfeited his chance because he was needed for relief chores both Saturday and Sunday in the tight pennant chase.

Stan Musial of the Cards and Dixie Walker of the Dodgers, who have been waging a scrap for hitting honors, will be in the National outfield with Augie Galan of the Brooks. Paul Cavarretta of the Cubs will be on first, Connie Ryan of the Braves at second, Marty Marion of the Cards at short and either Whitey Kurowski of the Cards or Bob Elliott of the Pirates on third. Ray Mueller probably will catch Walters with Walker Cooper taking up the burden later. Shortstop Eddie Miller of the Reds is out with a shoulder injury.

Americans Won Last Year

Vern Stephens of the Browns who has sparked the Sewell forces into the lead by his consistent hitting holds down the important cleanup slot in McCarthy's lineup. Flanking the Brownies' shortstop will be Ken Keltner of the Indians at third, Bobby Doerr of the Red Sox at second and George McQuinn of the Browns on first. Bob Johnson of the Red Sox, Thurman Tucker of the White Sox and Stan Spence of the Senators will do the gardening.

Last year's game won by the Americans, 5-3, was the first played entirely under the lights and the second comes at an appropriate time with the majors meeting today in joint session to enact legislation expected to provide unlimited week night play for all desiring.

The American league gave its okay to more games yesterday as it urged prompt renewal of the agreement establishing a high commissioner. The National considered both proposals and the anti-farm system plan made by General Manager Jack Zeller of Detroit but withheld announcement pending the joint session.

Wants Walker To Prove His Punch

Pittsburgh, July 11 (AP)—Ossie (Bulldog) Harris wants Johnny Walker, dusky Philadelphia middleweight, to prove that devastating left hook is as lethal as it looked here one night four weeks ago.

Walker, winner of 25 straight bouts—21 of them by knockouts—laid Harris on dream street that night in one sudden flash of power in the ninth. Before he suddenly broke from a half-chin to loose that left on Bulldog's jaw, the two had combined in a slam-bang affair, including one of the best exhibitions of in-fighting seen here in years, to keep the fans on the edge of their seats throughout.

Harris claims the sudden end to the fistie festivities was brought about by the goddess of fortune—or mis-fortune—rather than by any boxing ability the young Walker possesses.

Bulldog Harris Wins Split Verdict

Pittsburgh, July 11 (AP)—Ossie (Bulldog) Harris, Pittsburgh middleweight, came from behind last night to gain a split decision in his return bout with Johnny Walker of Philadelphia.

Walker knocked Harris out in the ninth round of their fight three weeks ago and was a three-to-one favorite to repeat last night. The referee and one judge voted for Harris and the other judge called it a draw.

Harris weighed 158, Walker 154.

Owls Hold Lead As York Climbs

(By The Associated Press)

Hagerstown tested in the No. 1 spot of the Interstate league today, a scant game ahead of Wilmington's Blue Rocks, while York beat the Trenton Packers 8 to 5 last night to edge up within a single game of the third-place Allentown Cardinals.

Joe Biros led the York attack with three hits, while Bill Ansk added a homer.

Tonight's games: Trenton at York, Wilmington at Lancaster, and Allentown at Hagerstown.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, July 11 (AP)—If experience counts, the National league should have a big edge in tonight's all-star fray at Pittsburgh. . . . All but seven of the National leaguers have appeared in previous all-star shows and the American has eleven newcomers. . . . Mel Ott hasn't missed a game since 1934 and will set a record by appearing in his eleventh tonight. Another Giant, Joe Medwick, started at the same time and skipped only last year; he's representing his third club, a doubtful distinction shared by the Yankees' Rolfe Hensley and the Red Sox Bob Johnson—Rick Ferrell is the only player who goes clear back to the first all-star game in 1933 but he has been absent since 1938.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Havey J. Boyle, Pittsburgh Post-Gazette: "One young pitcher with the Dodgers, Clyde King, late of North Carolina University, seems to be trying to salvage something out of the present decline. He carries a handbag which carries the somewhat modest request: 'Beat Duke'; judging from the way the poor bums have been tottering through the west, there is a question whether they could live up to that worthy ambition."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

The historic Seabright, N. J., tennis tournament will be a strictly feminine event this year. . . . Joe Golombeske, bespectacled mound star from Penn State, has been signed by the Yankees for the Binghamton, N. Y., farm. He's counting on baseball to pay for a medical education. . . . The New York State Athletic Commission has suspended Burper Don Evans "for actions considered detrimental to the best interests of wrestling." Definition, please?

SERVICE DEPT.

Camp Peary, Va.—Formerly the big Seabee base, has been taken on Navy personnel and reports say the outfit soon will be trying to schedule games for a top-rank football team. . . . Fritzie Zivic now is stationed at the Normyle overseas replacement pool in Texas near San Antonio.

Wilmington, Del., July 11 (AP)—Roy Brubaker, manager of the Bradford, Pa., club in the Pony league, has been appointed manager of the Wilmington Blue Rocks in the Interstate baseball league, succeeding Fred Duteh Dorman, suspended, Eddie Glennon business manager of the Rocks, announced.

CONNIE MACK ENJOYS VIEWS OF OLD STARS

Philadelphia, July 11 (AP)—It was just like a rainy Sunday afternoon with the family album for Connie Mack as he thumbed through the cigarette picture card collection of baseball greats of the 80's and 90's.

Charles Bray of East Bangor, Pa., owner of the 822 cards, brought them to the A's office at Connie's request.

"Why, there's Fessenden," Connie exclaimed. "He was the umpire who would never show up until game time in Baltimore so he would get his share of the applause. But the fans were wise. They knew if he got an enthusiastic greeting, Fessenden would be sure to give the home team the best of it."

"Grasshopper Jim"

It was a study in facial expression to watch Connie thumb through the pictures of his old friends and associates.

"By golly, here's my man," he exclaimed. "That's Grasshopper Jim Whitney. Jim helped pitch Boston to a National league championship in 1883. I caught him at Washington in '88."

Once the A's manager was skeptical. He said: "Why, that doesn't look like Ed Delahanty, any more than I do." Delahanty, famous as a Phillies' slugger won the batting championships of both the National and American leagues.

Good Old Days

The card of Adonis Bill Terry—the oldtime pitcher, not the former Giants' manager—also caught Connie's eye.

"I caught Bill at Pittsburgh and we worked out a plan to make short work of the batter once we had two strikes on him, the 81-year-old manager chuckled. "In those days the catcher did not have to stand so close to the batter until the third strike. Then I would move in and start fussing around."

Connie didn't explain "fussing around" but at that time catchers were known for their bat tipping ability and other tricks now forbidden.
